Fire Damages Home on Songhees Reserve

Top story of this house, at 13 Coopers Road, on Songhees Indian Reservation was destroyed yesterday afternoon by one-hour fire which started at 1.30 p.m. View Royal Volunteer and Navy fire-fighters battled flames while Albert Misheal and family struggled to save personal belongings.

Saved from fire which gutted Mrs. Sophie Misheal's home on Songhees Indian Reservation were these items. Treasured family possession, and first to be retrieved, was round, Indian ceremonial drum. Cause of fierce blaze was unknown, but a faulty chimney is thought to have been responsible.—(Colonist photo by Jim Ryan.)

Gen. Ridgway Confirms Report of Red Atrocities

Commander Regrets Manner In Which Story Was Released

TOKYO, Nov. 17 (Saturday) (AP)—Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway tonight confirmed the authenticity of a report of atrocities committed by Communist soldiers in Korea.

But the supreme commander expressed regret that evidence had not been coordinated before it was released.

He said that it had caused unnecessary anguish among relatives of soldiers in Korea, and that all deaths had already been reported to next of kin regardless of how death occurred.

Ridgway referred to a statement issued Wednesday by Col. James M. Hanley, chief of the U.S. Eighth Army's war crimes section, that 5,500 U.S. war prisoners had been massacred by the Reds since the outbreak of the war.

Ridgway's statement said:

"It had been concluded some months ago—that at an appropriate time when the accumulated evidence warranted and when due co-ordination had been effected with the proper authorities in Washington this evidence should be made public.

"That this co-ordination was not properly effected at the time of this release is of the utmost regret to this headquarters."

Ridgway's statement made no mention of the exact figures on atrocities against Allied prisoners-of-war.

Ridgway said that "all concerned share with me in deploring the anguish which this most regrettable incident has inflicted upon the relatives and friends of members of the United Nations command still carried on our casualty lists as missing in action."

He said the information contained in Hanley's statement "had of course no connection whatever with the current armistice negotiations."

Ridgway said that for more than a year officers especially assigned to investigating atrocities in Korea have been gathering evidence.

"More than a year ago it had become evident to all concerned here that Communist statements concerning their strict adherence to the principles of the Geneva convention in treatment of war prisoners were false," Ridgway said.

Peiping Fires Counter-Blast

TOKYO, Nov. 16 (Saturday) (AP)—The Peiping radio today branded as false a report that United Nations war prisoners had been slain by the Communists and hoosed the counterclaim that "thousands and tens of thousands" of Red war prisoners "have been massacred."

A Chinese-language broadcast monitored here asserted the statement issued by the U.S. Eighth Army's legal officer saying nearly 6,000 U.N. war prisoners had been slain "was nothing but shameful provocation."

The broadcast then said that "thousands and tens of thousands" of Chinese and North Korean Communist soldiers "who fell into the hands of the United Nations forces have been massacred."

The Allies maintain that all Communist prisoners have been treated well in conformity with the Geneva convention for the care of prisoners of war. The Chinese Communists do not subscribe to the Geneva convention.

The Peiping broadcast said the statement by Col. James M. Hanley, Eighth Army judge advocate general, had no basis in fact.

"The Communist side," Peiping said, "in accordance with the spirit of humanity, is treating the prisoners of war well despite difficult conditions.

"Fearing that the true facts might be reported, the United Nations command headquarters since last February has prohibited correspondents from questioning or interviewing released prisoners."

Pension News Welcome Here

Pension increases announced from Ottawa yesterday were given general, thumbs-up approval in Victoria by veterans' organizations, pensioners and war veterans, but there was also a general "wait and see" attitude.

P. G. Barr, Victoria and district Canadian Legion zone commander, thinks that "these things are quite hard to judge at first sight and until they are considered in relation to the War Pensions Act."

But he added: "The move indicates that the government realizes that the dollar of war pensioners and war widows needs a helping hand, too. At least it is a step in the right direction."

Said Robert Knight, former city legion official and one of the pioneer workers for veterans:

"It's what we asked for all right, but it's certainly not doing a thing for the fellow that needs it the most—the 'burned out' pensioner." (Pensioner receiving War Veterans' Allowance.).

Mr. Knight added that he believes the War Veterans Allowance recipients "will starve to death" if they have to wait until the next session of parliament for a pension boost.

E. Parker, secretary, Canadian Legion Britannia Branch, said "it sounds very nice but we don't know all the details."

Chimney Blamed For Fire

A faulty chimney is believed responsible for a fire that gutted the top floor of the home of Albert Misheal, 13 Coopers Road, on the Songhees Indian Reservation at about 1.30 p.m. yesterday.

The fire burned for nearly an hour. The top floor of the two story frame building was destroyed and the roof burned out.

The View Royal Volunteer Fire Department and a navy fire-fighting crew battled the flames while the Indian family fought desperately to save personal belongings. Water damage on the ground floor was extensive.

The fire is believed to have started on the second floor near the chimney. There was no estimate of damage and it is not known if the home was insured.

Vishinsky Changes Tune on Disarming

PARIS, Nov. 16 (CP)—Russia's foreign minister today called again for an atomic ban in an apparent effort to overtake western initiative in world disarmament proposals.

In his second speech in the general debate before the United Nations Assembly, a speech notably free of invective, Andrei Vishinsky also urged adoption of the old Russian plan for a one-third reduction in arms.

Western diplomatic sources saw Vishinsky's address as an effort to overcome the generally unfavorable world reaction to his previous speech in which he greeted world disarmament proposals with scornful laughter.

Vishinsky's demand for an immediate ban on atomic weapons and a one-third reduction in the armed forces of the five major powers was promptly rejected by Dean Acheson, U.S. state secretary. He declared the U.S., Britain and France intend to persevere with "the serious business of trying to get agreement on genuine steps toward disarmament."

Atheson, speaking to reporters outside the U.N. Assembly, said he was glad to see Vishinsky on second thought, had decided to stop laughing at the three-power western arms proposals.

But, he said, it was apparent that Vishinsky was still not ready for action on real reduction of armaments.

France's Robert Schuman, following the Russian on the assembly rostrum, rebutted the attacks against the west and flatly blamed world mistrust on "your policy, Mr. Vishinsky."

U.N. Secretary-General Trygve Lie also addressed the assembly and urged the foreign ministers here to start genuine negotiations on a settlement on east-west problems."

Italians Told To Flee Before Flood

ROVIGO, Italy, Nov. 16 (CP)—The 40,000 citizens of this beautiful Renaissance town were warned to leave tonight after engineers decided they could do nothing to save the town from the swirling Po River flood water.

Rovigo has been a temporary haven for thousands of villagers driven from 200,000 acres of submerged farmlands in the fertile Po River valley.

An air force plane bombed the dikes of a canal south of the town today in a last minute bid to divert the water from the town. But it continued to surge into the outskirts of Rovigo tonight.

Citizens gathered up a few belongings and headed north, away from the rain-swollen waters.

The worst floods in north Italy's modern history covered at least 15 villages today and claimed 94 persons dead or missing.

Premier and Mrs. Alcide De Gasperi were in the threatened city, 30 miles from the Adriatic cost, on an inspection trip.

U.K. Troops, Egyptians Clash in Shooting Affray

FAYID, Suez Canal Zone, Nov. 16 (CP)—The Anglo-Egyptian crisis exploded into a new violence today as British troops clashed in gun battles with Egyptians, killing at least one and wounding four others.

The first of the day's incidents occurred shortly after midnight when British troops fought a two-hour gun battle in Port Said's native quarter.

Both Egyptian and British reports said British soldiers entered the out-of-bounds quarter, but they disagreed as to the number. British reports said there were only two, the Egyptians said there were six and they appeared drunk.

Later British authorities confirmed the Egyptian report that the two soldiers, both sergeants, were drunk.

The Egyptian report stated that the soldiers robbed a cigarette seller and a sandwich maker. Shooting began and men of the Cheshire Regiment rushed to the scene.

The troops were fired on and returned fire, killing one Egyptian and wounding four. Two of the British troops were wounded in the clash.

British authorities said the men who broke bounds and entered the quarter were under close arrest.

Ottawa Gives New Figures On Tax Rental

OTTAWA, Nov. 16 (CP)—The finance department tonight issued new estimates of what the provinces will receive if they sign new taxation agreements with the federal government for the five-year period, starting next April 1.

The provinces were told at a federal-provincial conference last year that payments to them in the first year of the new agreements likely would total $362,410,000. Now it is estimated that the payments would total $387,627,000. B.C.'s share would be $37,250,000, compared with $34,983,000 in 1950.

The federal government has agreements with all provinces except Ontario and Quebec. The agreements, signed in 1947, are due to expire next March 31.

Disability Allowance Boosted One Third

OTTAWA, Nov. 16 (CP)—Pension increases averaging 33⅓ per cent for Canada's 160,000 war disability pensioners, their wives and war widows, were announced today by Veterans Minister Lapointe.

The increases will become effective next January. The unemployability supplement, begun last June, will be dropped.

The increases will add another $27,916,885 to the present $96,697,683 annual pensions bill.

The basic 100 per cent disability pension is to be increased to $125 a month from $94.

Allowance for a total disability pensioner's wife is to be increased to $45 from $31 and for the first child to $20 from $19.

Pension of a war widow is to be increased to $100 from $75 a month, and for her first child to $40 a month from $38.

Rates for other children will be unchanged.

Mr. Lapointe said it was felt the unemployability supplement had served its purposes. It was introduced as an interim means of relieving the pressure of living costs on pensioners.

Questioned about the possibility of increasing the war veterans allowance, Mr. Lapointe said the questions had no relation to the matter under discussion.

No Bond Drop, Says Sinclair

OTTAWA, Nov. 16 (CP)—An Opposition member today contended and a government spokesman denied that the Bank of Canada is depressing the value of Canadian government bonds.

E. D. Fulton (P.C.-Kamloops) said in the Commons the government is indirectly interfering with the value of the bonds. He said the Bank of Canada has withdrawn its support from the bond market and, as a result, several series of war bonds are quoted at less than par.

James Sinclair, parliamentary assistant to Finance Minister Abbott, said statements that the Bank of Canada has withdrawn its support from the bond market are untrue. He would make a fuller statement Monday.

Egypt Suggests Sudan Policy

PARIS, Nov. 16 (AP)—Egypt challenged Britain in the United Nations today with a proposal that both let the Sudan alone until a U.N.-supervised election can decide the future of the 1,000,000-square-mile area.

Egyptian foreign minister Mahamed Salah El Din said he was certain Britain would not agree.

Carr Elected By Association

MIAMI, Fla., Nov. 16 (CP)—Ernest C. Carr of Vancouver, chairman of the British Columbia Milk Board, today was elected to the executive board of the International Association of Milk Control Agencies.

Soviet Delegate Buffaloed About Canada

PARIS, Nov. 16 (CP)—Russia's foreign minister, Andrei Vishinsky, singled out Canada twice today in his speech before the United Nations General Assembly.

Outlining Russia's peace plan, he referred at one point to External Affairs Minister L. B. Pearson's question as to why the Russians wanted a special disarmament conference next year when the subject could be discussed in the assembly.

He expressed hope that the Soviet disarmament proposals outlined today would satisfy Pearson.

His other reference was an attempt to be jocular. He remarked that in the disarmament discussions, the West was putting the cart before the horse, or, as the Canadians would say, putting the buffalo before the cart "because Canadians prefer buffaloes to horses."

Sale of 100,000,000 Board Feet Of Watershed Trees Proposed

Sale of 100,000,000 board feet of mature timber located in the city's watershed is being considered by the Greater Victoria Water Board.

This was disclosed yesterday by Commissioner Ralph Davis in an address to the Victoria Lions Club at the Empress Hotel.

"The territory involved in this proposed sale at Sooke Lake is 2,400 acres and the term of the contract 15 years," he said. "The amount of timber involved is about 100,000,000 board feet, and an escalator clause will be necessary to cover log price variations over the 15-year period."

Mr. Davis said the contract will require the approval of the board's solicitor and the administration board itself.

"The personal supervision of the forester and his staff will see that no damage results to the watershed," Mr. Davis promised.

"Our long-range plans for the future of the watershed have been criticized as a 'gamble,' and it is suggested that Victoria's water supply is at stake. There is no gamble, for the whole program is one of development and protection," he declared.

The water commissioner said that good returns from timber sales will mean more can be spent to get the watershed program functioning properly.

He wanted to build up a forestry reserve so that a recession and lower log prices would not force curtailment of the forest management plan.

"We are the first district in Canada to initiate such a plan, and we are going to make it successful," he said.

The basis of the plan is to remove each year an amount of timber equal to the amount that the area will produce in growing timber.

The total timber cover on 3,000 acres of watershed lands is estimated at more than 300,000,000 board feet, a large part of this being mature timber that has stopped growing.

The 100,000,000 board feet the board proposes to sell is this mature timber standing west and northwest of Sooke Lake.

"While it stands in virgin state, this block of old mature timber is a depreciating asset, but the deep soil cover has shown that this area is highly capable of growing Douglas fir," Mr. Davis said.

He added that foresters have recommended the removal of this timber over a period of years so that new growing timber will cover the area after natural reforestation from seed trees surrounding the logged areas.

Alaska Woman Survives Marooning

FAIRBANKS, Alaska, Nov. 16 (AP)—A two-week trek by a Fairbanks flier through wild, frigid interior Alaska brought the daring rescue of the woman companion who had been marooned since their light plane crash-landed on an icy river bed Nov. 2.

The rescue in a swirling snowstorm came only a few hours after Bob Rouse, a construction foreman and pilot of the ill-fated plane, stumbled into an Eskimo village and told of his friend's plight.

He had set out soon after the forced landing at the junction of the Stony and Hollina Rivers, 250 miles west of Anchorage, and made his way through the snow-bound country 35 miles to the village of Stony River.

The woman who survived the 14 days alone in wild country, with inadequate food and clothing and in temperatures which ranged down to 15-below-zero, was Viola O'Brien, a Fairbanks cafe rashier. She and Rouse left Fairbanks for Anchorage two weeks ago today and dropped from sight soon after.

Miss O'Brien was rescued by Bob Vanderpool, veteran pilot from Alaska's Crooked River country. Vanderpool set his little single-engined plane down on rough ground during a blinding snowstorm, picked up the chilled woman and flew her back to Stony River.

Circulate Sunday Sports Petition

Junior Chamber of Commerce started circulating its petition on Sunday commercial sports and entertainment last night at the Memorial Arena. Booths will be located along Douglas Street today for the same purpose. A total of 1,000 signatures are required to bring about a referendum at the December elections. Junior Chamber has taken no stand on Sunday sports, but would like to see an expression of opinion by civic voters. Above, Johnny Chornoby expresses enthusiastic support in signing the petition, while S. L. Templeton, who manned booth, looks on.—(Colonist photo by Jim Ryan.)

Second Drive Set for Spring

The Victoria Community Chest will launch another fund-raising campaign next spring.

This was decided after a Thursday night meeting was informed that the amount raised since last Oct. 1 was only $163,607 approximately $73,000 short of the $236,000 objective.

An official said there was enough money on hand to support of the work of the 17 member agencies until April 30, 1952. It will be up to the board of directors of each member agency to decide what budget cuts must be made, he added.

Addict Centre Urged for B.C.

VANCOUVER, Nov. 16 (CP)—Establishment of a small, modern institution for the treatment and rehabilitation of drug addicts was proposed tonight by Attorney-General Gordon Wismer.

Describing what he had in mind as a "pilot plant," the attorney general said: "There is no sense in spending millions on hospitals unless our system proves itself. We can always enlarge later."

New Proposal Made by U.N.

MUNSAN, Korea, Nov. 17 (Saturday) (AP)—The U.N. command today submitted a new cease-fire proposal for an armistice in Korea within 30 days, a dispatch from Panmunjom said.

In a sudden and dramatic move to break the padonged deadlock Major-Gen. Henry I. Hodes told the Reds that their proposal for a tentative demarcation line along the present line of battle would be accepted.

Salmon Arm School Board Ordered To Take In Municipality Students

VANCOUVER, Nov. 16 (CP)—The British Columbia Appeal Court today ordered the Salmon Arm district school board to open its schools to 510 students.

The board had barred students from the municipality after ratepayers in the municipality had voted against paying a special tax to raise funds to help keep the schools open.

The Salmon Arm school district comprises three areas: the city of Salmon Arm itself, the municipality on the city's outskirts and the rural area beyond that.

City and rural students continued to attend classes but pupils from the municipality were barred, starting Oct. 1.

Ross Alexander McLeod, a ratepayer in the municipality, made application to the B.C. Supreme Court to compel the school board to provide education for his three children.

Mr. Justice H. S. Woods dismissed the application. He said there was no way in which residents of the municipality could be compelled to pay the special tax after a majority had voted against it in a referendum.

McLeod's appeal of Mr. Justice Woods' decision was allowed today by the Court of Appeal.

ALLABOARD

By G. E. Mortimore

Victoria photographers have asked the city for more protection from transient and "second-rate" cameramen.

Five members of Victoria branch of the Professional Photographers' Association asked the city to amend its licensing bylaw so as to include the street [illegible] should be in a commercial zone.

Vancouver photographers skip through the city without paying a license, they said. Semi-professionals operating from home dark rooms slice into their trade.

* * *

I think I can see their point, but I really can't sympathize with them. This is said to be a land of opportunity where a man can start small and through hard work and merit, grow big. It is the home of competition in business.

Yet here is another proposed regulation aimed to restrict competition and make it harder for a man to start in a small way.

Many an amateur tinkering in back yard or basement has become a captain of industry. Multiplying regulations have now made such success nearly impossible. Each regulation may have been needed and useful. Yet when all the regulations were woven together, they became a net to catch and hinder everyone.

Photographers will reply that they have no intention of trying to [illegible] a new man setting up business. They simply want to ensure that he sets up business in a proper way, and protect "legitimate" photographers who are already established.

Whatever their intentions, however, the action they want will make it harder to get started. Naturally it is easier to operate from a home dark room than from an expensive downtown store. Why, they ask, must the man who laid out money to establish himself downtown be penalized?

The answer to this, of course, is that nobody compelled him to set up business downtown in the first place. He did so to gain the advantage of better position and prestige. Others had no capital, so they were compelled to start in a cheaper location.

The photographers are technically within their rights in demanding that zoning laws be enforced. I feel, however, that zoning laws are made first of all to protect householders, not to protect business men from extra competition.

And if the cameramen they want controlled are "second-rate," why do they fear them? Don't they trust their product to speak for itself?

They had to make their own start, but now that they are solidly established, they want rules against newcomers, it seems.

* * *

However I have no malice against photographers. They may be right according to their lights. This is an entirely personal cry against the increasing stratification and rigidity of society, and the scale of values which favors the stay-at-home over the vagabond, the established man over the newcomer, the big man over the small.

There is nothing that I or anyone else can do against this trend. The photographers will probably win their point, and they will not be alone.

Warden Gives Hint Of Certificate Loss

NEW WESTMINSTER, B.C., Nov. 16 (CP).—A prison guard may have used Daniel Leroy Sanger's health certificate for a "scratch pad," Oakalla Prison warden John Millman told a court of inquiry Thursday.

The warden was testifying before Judge H. H. Shandley at the inquiry into the death of Sanger in the prison Sept. 30. Sanger was awaiting preliminary hearing [illegible] Gwen Doris Caswell at Victoria.

Warden Millman said a search for the missing certificate was ordered by Attorney-General Gordon Wismer but it was unsuccessful.

Records clerk William S. Allan assured the judge that the proper certificate accompanied the deceased and he said he was certain it was signed by a doctor.

Sanger appeared "normal" when he was admitted to the prison, Allan said.

"It appeared as if he might have been suffering from asthma and I checked the health certificate a second time. There were no notations on it."

X-ray technician N. F. D. Pearson said Sanger appeared to be short of breath when he was [illegible]

Prison guard Wilfred Hurlburt said at no time did Sanger request a doctor or treatment. "I called a doctor as soon as I thought it necessary," he said.

The court will reconvene at Victoria for James J. Proudfoot, representing Victoria City, to produce additional witnesses.

Salmon Pack Hits 1,945,039 Cases

VANCOUVER, Nov. 16 (CP).—The Federal Department of Fisheries announced today that the British Columbia salmon pack reached 1,945,039 cases by Nov. 14, the highest figure since 1941.

A fisheries spokesman said fishing is still open in some areas but the pack is not expected to reach the 2,000,000 mark this year.

Los Angeles Superior Court has ended the suspense for two Vancouver girls.

R. Dwight Merrill of Seattle inherited $12,500,000 from a Los Angeles nephew, Thomas S. Lee. Merrill sought to distribute the estate among other relatives, including Eulali and Virginia Bloedel, 20 and 22-year-old daughters of Vancouver lumberman Prentice Bloedel.

The court yesterday approved this distribution plan, rejecting a claim by a friend of Lee that there was a later will naming different heirs. The Bloedel sisters will, under the plan, divide equally $1,800,000.

Government Not Stopping Money Going to China

OTTAWA, Nov. 16 (CP)—James Sinclair, Parliamentary assistant to Finance Minister Abbott, told the Commons today the government has considered a ban on the export of dollars to Communist China and other iron curtain countries, but has decided such action would not be feasible.

G. K. Fraser (P.C.-Peterborough West) had suggested such action be taken on the ground of reports that Chinese living in Canada, who have relatives in China, are being "blackmailed" for money by the Chinese government.

Mr. Sinclair said the finance department has no knowledge of such blackmail or extortion and has noticed no increase in permits for the export of dollars to China.

He suggested that a ban on exports would work hardship on a great many Chinese, particularly in British Columbia, who for years have sent small remittances to their parents in China.

Auxiliary Services for Korea Again Advocated by Opposition

OTTAWA, Nov. 16 (CP)—Progressive Conservative and C.C.F. members pressed the government again in the Commons today to provide recreational and educational services for the Canadian troops fighting in Korea.

Detailed study of legislation concerning the armed services was completed and it now awaits third and final reading at a later sitting.

The chamber also finished committee study of a bill to implement an agreement between the 12 nations of the North Atlantic treaty organization dealing with the status of their forces within the jurisdiction of member states of the alliance.

Ralph Campney, parliamentary assistant to the defense minister, said that discussions now are being held on the relation between the N.A.T.O. agreement and agreement by which the United States maintains bases in Newfoundland.

In the defense debate, Howard Green, P.C., Vancouver-Quadra, repeated suggestion that an independent investigating committee, to be made up of people experienced in providing welfare services in the last war, be sent to Korea.

John Diefenbaker, P.C., Lake Centre, said he had several letters from men serving in Korea asking why the defense department was denying them the services of the Salvation Army and the Y.M.C.A.

Warships Meet Royal Liner

BELFAST, Northern Ireland, Nov. 16 (Reuters)—Two destroyers from Britain picked up the liner Empress of Scotland, with Princess Elizabeth and the Duke of Edinburgh aboard, off northern Ireland about noon today.

On sighting the royal liner, the destroyers Creole and Zambesi dressed ship with the Royal ensign at the masthead and swung round to escort them home from their North American tour.

The Princess and the Duke of Edinburgh will disembark at Liverpool Saturday morning and travel by train to London.

Londoners are expected to give them a great welcome Saturday afternoon as they drive from the railroad station to Buckingham Palace.

Ship Icebound In Yukon River

DAWSON, Y.T., Nov. 16 (CP)—The sternwheeler Nasutlin of the British Yukon Navigation Company, the last boat to arrive here this year, is icebound in the Yukon River.

Attempts to pull her ashore for the winter after she was caught in the freeze-up failed.

The Nasutlin now rests on the bottom of the river in shallow water at a 30-degree list. The hold and lower freight deck are full of ice and water.

Salvage may be attempted before spring breakup.

Newfoundland Liberals Win by Acclamation

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld., Nov. 16 (CP)—Premier Smallwood's ruling Liberal party won two seats by acclamation and was expected to take two more as candidates were nominated today for the Newfoundland general election Nov. 26. Three northern districts have not yet reported.

A total of 52 candidates filed nominations for the 28-member legislature.

Equalization of Rates To Be Gradual Process

OTTAWA, Nov. 16 (CP)—Equalization of freight rates in Canada is going to take about five years, two railway experts today told the Commons special committee studying the government's equalization bill.

The estimate came from Leonard J. Knowles, Canada's No. 1 freight rate expert, and F. C. S. Evans, vice-president and general counsel of the Canadian Pacific Railway.

Mr. Knowles, traffic adviser to the Royal Commission on Transportation and now special assistant to C.N.R. President Donald Gordon, said it would take between one and two years to equalize the basic rate scales as between regions. Another three years or so would be needed to adjust the many thousands of individual rates.

Mr. Evans said the equalization process must necessarily be a slow one to avoid "upsetting the whole economy."

"Drastic and quick adjustment of rates might throw some industries into bankruptcy," he said. "Mechanically, you could do it tomorrow, but we'd make such a mess that the whole country would be in chaos."

DENVER, Colo., Nov. 16 (AP)—Robert T. Broden of Denver returned from a hunting trip with a four-point buck, weighing 300 pounds.

There was no space available in commercial foot lockers.

In desperation, Broden bought himself a $300 deep freeze. Then he found there was no space for it in the family's four-room home.

So Broden started building a porch on the house in which to place the deep freeze. Total estimated cost, including hunting equipment and trip, deep freeze and construction, $1,500 — or about $5 a pound for his deer.

Canada Takes Big Step Nearer Seaway on Own

OTTAWA, Nov. 16 (CP)—The Canadian government today took another step towards launching the St. Lawrence seaway without the financial help of the United States.

Transport Minister Chevrier gave the Commons notice that he will move the creation of a $300,000,000 "St. Lawrence seaway authority" to build and operate the navigation phase of the big ship-power project on the St. Lawrence and Great Lakes.

The minister notified the House he will propose a resolution next Monday for the establishment of the corporation, which would be empowered to borrow up to $300,000,000 and to set tolls for shipping using the waterway.

Under latest estimates, it would cost the Canadian government about $250,000,000 to build the 27-foot deep navigation channel extending from Montreal into Lake Erie.

DREAM TRIP

SYDNEY, Australia (Reuters)—Two seamen are planning to fulfil a life ambition by exploring tiny Rapa Island, 670 miles south of Tahiti. John Fillylove and Jack Arnot, former naval shipmates, bought a 40-foot yacht with $60,000 won in the Irish sweepstakes.

Submarine Report Discounted in U.S.

SAN DIEGO, Cal., Nov. 16 (INS)—The navy discounted today reports that an unidentified submarine had been active in waters off San Diego.

The 11th naval district announced it had "investigated a reported unidentified submarine contact off the San Diego coast," but that it had found "insufficient evidence" to indicate such activity.

Logging the Watershed

IF THERE is one subject that has been argued backwards and forwards in Victoria for the last 30 years it is the question of logging the Goldstream-Sooke watersheds. Announcement now that the Greater Victoria Water Board is considering doing so will revive the controversy, without changing the facts on the ground. It is all very well for the water commissioner to say that this is not a "gamble"—and the word is his—but who will guarantee that precipitation will not be impaired after one-third of the mature timber cover has been removed? Far beyond the value of the timber now or in the future is this question of water-storage for an area growing fast in its population. At the end of 15 years whatever mature trees are cut will be replaced by Christmas trees with still another 85 years to go before they reach their century.

What has happened in the Cowichan Lake district within the last 20 years through the denuding of the hills, with concurrent flooding by winter and drought by summer, has been a potent example of the effect of timber upon rainfall. Acres of fireweed have not replaced the original stands of Cowichan Lake, and second growth timber through the same years has not maintained the precipitation of that watershed.

It may be, of course, that the Greater Victoria Water Board intends to adopt very different methods from the strip-logging of former times, as it pledges the supervision of trained forestry control. On the other hand the Victoria watershed is too small an area for the usual conception of forest management practices to apply, and one-third of the standing timber can certainly not be replaced in 15 years.

Since there will be genuine interest in the subject all round, will the water board share with the public its basic reasons for believing that a cutting-contract such as proposed will not lower the 70-inch annual rainfall in the Sooke district crucially? That seems to have been the uniform result everywhere else. Once watershed timber is cut a century and more may elapse before we shall again see its like.

Referendums Should Not Be Needed

BECAUSE such a referendum would be in conflict with the Municipal Act of British Columbia, there now appears to be little likelihood of voters in the municipalities of the province being allowed to show their preference for or against the coloring of margarine in the factory instead of the kitchen. Frustrating as this may be, the law appears to be clear on the subject.

The act, which governs all municipal corporations with the exception of Vancouver, states that a referendum bylaw may be submitted for the purpose of "obtaining at the time of holding the annual election the opinion of municipal electors upon any question which affects the municipality and with which the municipal council has power to deal." Councils which exceed that authority render their members liable individually to penalties. The prohibition of artificial coloring margarine in the process of manufacture is part of a provincial statute, and no body other than the legislature has power to deal with it. Municipal Affairs Minister MacDonald would have been negligent in his duty if he had not drawn attention to the legal situation, and should not have been criticized for having done so.

Surely, however, referendums should not be necessary to persuade the provincial government that the restriction, which accomplishes no purpose other than the annoyance of housewives, is resented by a very large majority of the people. There has been public outcry against the absurd ban from one side of Canada to the other. In recent referendums in eight urban centres of Manitoba the electors voted five to one in favor of repeal. It is reasonable to assume that the 96,000 who recorded votes in the prairie province represent a cross-section of Canadian opinion and that their overwhelming affirmative vote indicates the result to be expected if a similar poll were taken in B.C.

The government must realize by now that the ban does no one any good, and that continuation of it is more harmful to the government politically than any loss of face, probably imagined, which might result from a request to the legislature to repeal the section.

More Realistic Policy

ANNOUNCEMENT by Veterans' Minister Lapointe at Ottawa yesterday of an increased scale of war disability pensions for Canadian veterans, their widows and dependents, restores common justice to a case which had been neglected for far too long. While it remains to be seen how the new disability pensions will work out in practice, the claim of the government to having met the veterans' request for a 33 per cent increase in the aggregate would seem to be a fairly substantial answer. One notes the reservation still held in Canadian Legion circles as to the fate of the unemployability supplement, but no doubt this point will be clarified. On the whole, a far more realistic response is being made to the actual needs of war-service veterans than obtained until now.

Some of the increases now to be granted are self-explanatory. For a long time the $75 monthly pension to a veteran's widow has been far out of line with the realities of the day. The increase of such pensions to $100 is a sensible one. The allowances for children of married pensioners seems little changed, with the exception of the case of the first child. The basic pension for the man disabled in action will move up from $94 to $125 a month, little enough when one considers the probable nature of such disability and its effect on the lifetime of a veteran. With all of the increase the total pension bill for war disability pensioners in Canada will now be an estimated $127,916,000 a year, compared with $100,000,000 before. The difference, in today's national economy, is one that can be absorbed readily enough in view of the acute need of these beneficiaries and their previous long neglect.

VISITOR'S LOSS

Sir,—This is hardly a topic of general interest but it is of great importance to one individual. My mother-in-law has been in this country for some months and is filled with enthusiasm for Victoria; a short time ago she remarked that never in her life before had she met with such kindliness as she had encountered here. Recently, however, a small incident has occurred which has marred her visit. As is generally known a traveler is allowed to take very little money out of the United Kingdom, and she has been literally saving every penny in order to return home with a few presents for those less fortunate than ourselves. She had never, like many of her friends, possessed a pair of nylon stockings, so last Thursday she bought nine pairs to take back as gifts. These nylons mysteriously disappeared between their purchase downtown and her return. In all probability another shopper picked up the small parcel with her own purchases and did not discover her mistake until reaching home.

S.P.C.A. AND VIVISECTION

Sir,—To be misunderstood is always unpleasant but when it persists in the face of plain facts clearly explained, it becomes wearisome.

If as your correspondent Mr. Blythe suggests, the S.P.C.A. should cease from functioning he would soon find out whether they had been doing their job or not. Holding meetings and passing resolutions and writing protests are futile unless there is action to back it up. If, as another correspondent asserts that the society has not the staff to supervise experiments may I ask who is going to attempt at least to ameliorate the lot of laboratory animals? Also, if unclaimed strays from the pound are not to be used one may be sure the traffic in domestic pets will still go on.

Until the evil of vivisection can be abolished and of that at present there is no sign—surely it is better to strive to ameliorate these creatures' condition by all means at our disposal instead of wringing our hands and doing nothing. So far no society has been able to stop this practice of experiments on animals, which is abhorrent to us all. As matters are, an ounce of help is worth a pound of pity.

THE CHANGING DOLLAR

Sir,—The writer notes in a Colonist editorial that it is the intention of the government to increase the maximum annuity available under the Annuity Act to $200 per month, in order to encourage people to make self-provision for old age. The writer also observes that The Financial Post quotes a Toronto financier as saying that the purchasing power of the Canadian dollar will probably drop to half about every ten years.

What then is the prospect for a young man of 20 trying to provide for his old age by buying a maximum annuity starting at 70? He will pay premiums for 50 years and the purchasing power of his annuity will have been cut in half five times when he receives it, so that it will be worth at today's prices, $6.25. Indeed, it is pointed out that he may fare much worse as, for example in France where in 27 years the value of money has been cut to 1 per cent.

Government assurances as to the future value of the dollar have turned out misleading in the past. Is it not time for positive measures to be taken to stop the rot and, if possible, restore some measure of stability and confidence to our financial system?

A "FIFTY" CLUB

Sir,—Is there such a thing in Victoria as a "Fifty" Club? If not, being on the right side of 50 myself, I feel that very many men and women of like age would enjoy a club where they could meet and enjoy various recreations and learn from each other many useful and interesting crafts and arts. Many older people formerly sang, and would find great pleasure in singing together and learning part songs.

Doing things together is fun. Let's start something. I hope someone will second the motion.

I would be charter member of the "Fifty" Club.

Liquid Gold

By FRANK KELLEY

LET us all hope that the 50-year-old dream of widely distributed British Columbians became a reality about the beginning of this month—even if the scene of the materialization may be in the vicinity of Fort St. John in the Peace River area of the province, with its great coal and agricultural resources.

What the bringing in of producing oil wells (where there's one there could be more) will mean to the economy of British Columbia can only be a matter of guesswork at the moment; but it can be visualized as providing, should the "find" lead to other successes of a like character, something in the nature of a transfusion equally as potent as the one sparking the development of pulp and cellulose projects.

Oil, like gold, is where you find it, apparently. Seepages of it can be found in countless places. It has to be dug for, too, by highly optimistic chance-takers, often without finding a lake of the commodity at the end of the drill casing. It is this type of citizen who makes it possible for anything in the nature of a gamble to be made a sure thing occasionally.

At one time great expectations enthused British Columbians in the pursuit of some easy money in return for little investments in oil prospects. Drills were working in many parts of the province. Some will remember the drilling on the Fraser delta near New Westminster, at Pitt Meadows, West Horsefly in the Cariboo, on the Queen Charlotte Islands, and nearer Victoria in the Sooke area and on Pender Island.

* * *

Then some of us have memories of another area of British Columbia, the southeast corner to be exact. There adjoining Washington and Montana, in what is known as the Flathead country, there were undoubtedly seepages at the surface of crude oil. W. Fleet Robertson, provincial mineralogist, reported on the fact and obtained samples, which were of good quality according to the record. A lot of stock was sold by a Victoria concern exploiting the Flathead possibility.

Seepages were also noted at the time and licenses issued for exploration work on Evans Arm, King Island and in the vicinity of Seymour Inlet on the mainland coast. During those years of oil excitements I remember asking Bill Sutton, geologist for the Dunsmuir interests, what were the prospects of locating oil in the Nanaimo and Comox coal field areas. He laughed, said he'd been asked that question more than once. In prospecting for deeper coal seams with drills over the area, the company always went below the coal measures, always finding these lay on igneous formations, the coal measures being of a comparatively recent date, according to measurements of geologic time.

Then I recall, on one trip to the Peace River country about 1911-12, when the oil excitement was at its height in Alberta, meeting a Dominion land surveyor in the Alberta Hotel, Edmonton. He was bound for Grouard, at the head of Lesser Slave Lake; and, when I told him that was where the horses I was to use were, he invited me to accompany his party.

That surveyor had considerable to say, as oil was on most tongues at the time, about oil evidences seen between the enormous coal deposits showing in the Peace River Canyon and the great bitumen deposits near Lake Athabasca. On his assignments he had seen oil slicks running on numerous streams and had heard of others in the British Columbia Peace River block, on the Halfway River, as well as in the northeast corner of the province, which will become better known now that the boundary between British Columbia and Alberta is being established as the result of oil-seeking activities.

Reports From Ottawa

THE tightening of credit in this country, which is one of the government's weapons against inflation, is forcing provinces and municipalities to turn their eyes southwards for the first time in several years to satisfy their borrowing needs.

Thus federal government statisticians estimate that governments of the two lower levels had borrowed about $200,000,000 in the United States this year up to the end of October.

American purchase of provincial and municipal bonds payable in United States dollars is described as the characteristic feature of United States investment in Canada this year. Thus American investors are not taking a risk on our currency, as they did last year, when hundreds of millions of United States dollars flowed into Canada in a record-breaking stream of largely speculative capital.

At the same time, United States investors are showing the same willingness as last year to risk their money on Canada's future, and the provincial and municipal governments' ability to meet their obligations when they come due. That in itself augurs well for the stability of the Canadian economy.

* * *

Two factors mainly brought about the record inflow of United States capital in 1950. One was resources development. The other was the general expectation that the Canadian dollar would be raised to parity with the United States dollar, when they enjoyed an officially supported 10 per cent premium.

A number of big American investors saw a chance to make a quick 10 per cent on their money, but the government here didn't do as expected. Instead of lifting the dollar to parity, it freed it and allowed it to find its own level. The result was that the Canadian dollar appreciated only about 5 per cent.

But, flatteringly enough to Canada, these investors did not overthrow their capital when their hopes were partly dashed. Instead, encouraged by rising interest rates here, most of them left their money in Canada. Much of it is now invested in Government of Canada bonds.

Resources development, the other great Canadian attraction of United States capital, has been possible on the unprecedented scale of the last few years only because Americans came forward with risk capital in quantities Canada needed but did not possess. Alberta oil and Labrador iron and titanium are monuments to the American investors.

One gauge of the Canadian boom is the billion dollars of addition United States capital representing new money which came into the country and profits reinvested in the five years 1945-49. Total United States investment was $3,932,000,000 at the end of 1949; is probably well over $6,500,000,000 now.

However, it should not be assumed therefrom that Canadians have been backward in investing in their country's future. Actually, new Canadian investment exceeds new United States investment, and Canada is now much less dependent on foreign sources of capital than it was in the boom of the 1920's.

But as one qualified student of the flow of capital explained, "The influx of United States capital may give Canadian development a distinctly American character, but it also gives it an impetus it wouldn't otherwise have."

Maze of Words

(From The Globe and Mail, Toronto)

THE New York city council has just received a report of a survey of civic employees' job classifications. It took over a year to prepare and in its final printed form, with recommendations and supporting data, it stood in a pile about four feet high and weighed 135 pounds! This must set some sort of a record for a report, especially on a comparatively limited field of investigation.

The defect of these enormous reports is that nobody reads them. We have often had occasion to complain about excessive wordage in some reports nearer home. One of them, with about half a million words, might have had a much greater influence if it could have been condensed into half or less than that amount. Coal, transportation, Dominion-provincial relations, and many another subject have been discussed and recommended over and over again, but the effect of all the work is mostly lost under a heap of words. The world is confused enough without such a determined effort to compound the folly.

Much of the need for these investigations and reports would be obviated if the members of councils, legislatures and parliaments did their committee work carefully. Sometimes, it is true, they are not allowed to look under the surface, but that should make them all the more curious. One glaring instance of this reluctance to allow investigation is the refusal during the six years since the war to look closely at the federal payroll. Nobody knows who is who, or why. The last person to ask would be a deputy minister. In such a vast growth as has been seen in the defense department, for instance, how can any individual know whether it has all been necessary or is in any respect efficient.

Such matters ought to be under constant scrutiny. Then surveys, investigations, and their attendant waste of time and energy, in most cases, would not be required.

The Packsack

OF GREGORY CLARK

FROM coast to coast in Canada this week, somewhere in the neighborhood of a quarter million men are out in the bush hunting deer. This includes tens of thousands of city and town men who are reveling in a treasured holiday at their own camps or at commercial camps, as well as a number of thousands of backwoodsmen across the whole frontier of Canada who count upon a deer hung up in the shed as an important item of their domestic supplies.

Three kinds of deer provide this sport and meat for the largest sporting fraternity in Canada, the whitetail deer alone in the east, and the mule and blacktail deer in the west. But the whitetail also appears in the west, although neither the mule nor blacktail is found anywhere in the east. Victor Cahalane, the great authority on American mammals, states that the range of the whitetail deer is most of the United States and Canada, from Nova Scotia west to eastern British Columbia, south to the Florida Keys, west to southern Arizona, Utah and southwestern Washington, the eastern slopes of the Cascade Mountains and lower Columbia River, in Oregon, and also south through Central and South America to Peru and Bolivia. I am sure eastern hunters had no idea of the enormous range of what used to be called the Virginia deer.

The two western species are much more limited in range. The muley in Canada is confined to north-central Alberta and eastern British Columbia. The blacktail deer's range is the forests of the Pacific slope, from the Sierra Nevada up to Glacier Bay and Cape Spencer in Alaska. The blacktail is a smaller deer than the other two, the male deer, being stouter bodied, having a slight edge for size on the whitetail.

Uranium

By BOB CONSIDINE

NEW YORK.—It's as simple as this: If we ran out of uranium ore, or were shut off from our chief source of supply (Canada and the Belgian Congo), this country in time would be defeated by Russia and its people become as enslaved as those of any other satellite. We could have all the oil, steel, wheat, meat, tanks, planes, shells, ships, transportation and money we need—but, in time, we'd have to fall.

Hence the tremendous search for new uranium deposits. It is questionable whether there has been a costlier or more intensive search in history. It is a source of 'round-the-clock concern for the Atomic Energy Commission and of men in government who know the score. It is priority No. 1, and, though we are comfortably ahead of the Russians in the size of our atomic stockpile, the grim scarcity of the merchandise for bombs is one of the several reasons why we have sought to reach atomic understandings with the Reds.

No place is too far away, in the free world, to deter our uranium sleuths from visiting. The tense quest was one of the reasons behind Admiral Byrd's last trip to Antarctica.

We now have men combing the remotest regions of Australia, with the co-operation of that government—which has a mighty stake in the atomic game. We have made proper overtures to the Central and South American republics, with a view to similar searchers.

The desperate need of more and more uranium put the government in the mining business, an odd role for Uncle Sam and one for which he was (and is) not especially fitted. Thus the government has had to appeal to thousands of private prospectors, geologists and mining engineers, essentially interested in other products of the earth—to keep an eye out for uranium.

Rich rewards are offered and given. Individuals, miners or not, can still get a $10,000 bonus from the A.E.C. if they find uranium, plus good sales prices to the only legal customer for the stuff—the government.

The A.E.C. has distributed more than 75,000 copies of its guide and handbook entitled, "Prospecting for Uranium" since 1948. It has set up labs throughout the country, and they process as many as 1,000 samples a month. The finds in the Colorado plateau area came only after thousands of miles of mesa rims had been prospected. When they tended to peter out, the searchers spread out across the endless expanse of land adjacent to the rims.

The United States geodetic survey now examines samples from mines of all kinds, smelters and mills, in search of the elusive stuff. The investigation has even extended to the examination of mineral specimens in museums, schools and private collections. Oil drillers have been alerted and placed on the "team." The wildest dream of the screwiest crackpot who believes he has a uranium mine in his back yard is soberly investigated.

Uranium appears in the earth's crust as frequently as lead, but nature perversely (or otherwise) spread it thinly. Congentrated deposits are rare, and places where instruments show plainly it is hiding are prohibitively costly to work. The oceans have a lot of it, but won't yield their treasures in sufficient quantities.

As for Russia's sources of supply, aside from the Czechoslovakian fields, no one seems to know.

Book Week Promotes Good Reading Habits

Young Canada is in the midst of Book Week.

Sponsored by the Library Association of the Dominion, this is the week librarians and teachers and parents join forces to promote good reading for children.

This week librarians are busy talking to P.T.A. groups, lecturing to school classes and giving away special book markers on which are listed names of good junior reading material.

Also this week the Canadian author who has written the best children's book for the year is presented with an award and medal. In 1949 author Mabel Dugnar who wrote "Kristli's Trees" won the award and last year "Franklin of the Arctic" by Richard Lambert took the prize. The winner has not yet been announced this year.

The children still love the old favorites, she says, and Black Beauty, Tom Sawyer, Huckleberry Finn, Little Women, Treasure Island and Kidnapped never gather any dust on the shelves.

But G. A. Henty is not as popular as he once was. Miss King thinks this is because the books are not well illustrated and because the print is too small.

Biggest favorites on youth opinion polls are stories about the sea, dogs and horses. Two of the most popular are Farley's "The Black Stallion" and O'Brien's "Silver Chief."

Children also take out many books on how to do things, games to play, objects to make. Right now Christmas stories are circulating fast.

The figures seem to prove that Victoria youths have good reading habits. More than 700 books were borrowed from their lending library section last Saturday alone.

Young Canada was caught in the act of reading by The Colonist photographer during Book Week but never let it be said that these children do not read every week. Sharon Collins, Susan Bell, Mary Rolland, Stuart Berry and Donald Bell are regular library-goers. Literary kibitzers standing over them are Coleen Cook and Richard Hallett.—(Colonist photo by Bud Kinsman.)

Five-Point Milk Price Attack Urged

A five-pronged resolution aimed at lowering milk prices was passed last night by a meeting sponsored by the Canadian Congress of Women in Victoria.

The resolution opposed further price increases for consumers and favored a rollback from present prices, cheaper milk at retail stores, and an adequate producer guarantee, and demanded a provincial subsidy to farmers.

Henry G. Robinson, secretary of Vancouver Island Dairymen's Association, was questioned as to what help it would be to farmers if prices kept increasing and consumption decreased.

"Production on Vancouver Island is dropping faster than consumption and I don't know how long supplies will be available from the mainland," he said.

A resolution was passed calling for an excess profits tax on all profits higher than 4 per cent.

Another resolution called for a public inquiry into the cost-of-living index with a view to adopting a new basis for it.

Other resolutions presented called for removal of the 20 per cent income surtax, lower beef prices, lower hospital insurance scheme premiums, abolition of recent telephone rate increases.

Forecast Value Cited

Victoria's weatherman, William Mackie, explained the history and operations of weather forecasting to members of the Vancouver Island branches, Engineering Institute of Canada and B.C. Engineering Society, last night at a joint meeting.

Mr. Mackie used two storms as an illustration of the value of forecasting. One was in November, 1913, when 244 lives and 11 ships were lost on the Great Lakes because of lack of storm warnings, and the other in November, 1950, when in an identical storm no lives or ships were lost.

The B.C. Engineering Society held an election of officers at the conclusion of the meeting.

Chairman is R. E. Potter, vice-chairman, G. F. Green; secretary-treasurer, J. A. Izard and member-at-large, A. S. Morton.

Alert Buyer Snubbed In Cigarette Bargain

BOSTON, Nov. 16 (AP) — James V. Souza with an eye to business snapped up 1,000 cartons of cigarettes for $675 Thursday at a marshal's auction. Then he was denied a license because he was not qualified as a retailer and was told the cigarettes were manufactured in 1947 and are "stale and useless."

Presbyterian

ST. ANDREW'S

The services will be conducted by the minister, Rev. J. Lewis W. McLean, M.A., when the morning sermon subject will be "Society Transformed," the fourth in a series on "Jesus' Teachings Today."

The evening subject will be "Wells Without Water." The music will be under the direction of organist and choirmaster C. C. Warren. Senior Sunday school meets at 9.45 and the beginners and primary at 11 a.m., during morning worship.

Baptist

FIRST

The Ordinance of Believers Baptism will be observed at the morning service. Rev. G. R. Easter's sermon will be "The Marks of a Great Man." In the evening the pastor will preach on "Fatal Lures from Life's Highway."

EMANUEL

The pastor, Rev. James F. Smith, will speak on "The Family of God" at the morning service. In the evening he will speak on "The Church Breaks Step."

CENTRAL

At a special service at 7.30 p.m., Dr. Louis T. Talbot will show color pictures taken on a recent trip through South America. Dr. Talbot is president of the Bible Institute of Los Angeles.

Lutheran

HOPE

The sermon at the 11 a.m. service will be based on Genesis 27, 1-29. For his topic, Rev. L. H. Geirach has chosen "Trust in the Lord." Sunday school for all ages will start at 10 a.m.

Other Denominations

VICTORIA TRUTH CENTRE

Rev. Emma M. Smiley will speak at both services. In the morning her topic will be "In Search of God," and the evening topic will be "Beloved Now Are Ye Sons."

The fact that man is immortal as the reflection of God, who is infinite life, will be brought out at Church of Christ Scientist services Sunday. The subject of the lesson-sermon is, "Mortals and Immortals."

Korea Veteran Gets Post Here

Petty Officer J. A. Brahan, R.C.N., veteran of the Korean war, is now attached to the naval information offices of Pacific Command. He has taken the place of CPO. Lloyd Turner, now attending a course at the R.C.N. preparatory school at H.M.C.S. Naden.

Honest Citizens Impress U.S. Woman

A Snohomish, Wash., woman who was a recent visitor here, thinks Victorians are just about the most honest people she has ever heard about.

Hoping an advertisement would help recover the valuable beads, Mrs. Cochran phoned a local radio station and arranged some spot announcements.

When she asked the cost of the announcements, she was told: "Well, since you're an American and a guest here, there won't be any charge."

Mrs. Clark also told the Snohomish Tribune that an incident she experienced here during the war helped to convince her that the generosity of Victoria citizens must be a pretty general thing.

"I wrote to my husband overseas while I was there," she said, "and I used U.S. air mail stamps. They weren't even canceled, although they should have been."

The pearls?

Mrs. Cochran got them in the mail just a couple of days after she got home.

Harrison, Kent Clash About Water As Would-Be Mayors Share Platform

A group of Victoria women were given a preview of things to come this week when the three contenders for the mayoralty began what promises to be a lively election campaign from the same platform.

Ald. J. D. Hunter, Ald. Aubrey Kent and Claude Harrison spoke to 34 members of the Victoria Women's Progressive Conservative Association at the Orange Hall.

Mr. Harrison set off the fireworks when he claimed the city received nothing when it sold the waterworks for $750,000.

When Ald. Kent termed the statement untrue, Mr. Harrison demanded an apology.

Ald. Kent apologized and went on to explain that the waterworks could have brought in $6,000,000 but was set up to give water at cost.

"It's not in the contract," replied Mr. Harrison.

Mr. Harrison then went on to outline his platform including a reduction of council size, open meetings, a probe of the Memorial Arena.

He declared that the arena was not safe and dared Ald. Hunter to say that it was.

In his turn, Ald. Kent called the arena problem "a dead issue" so far as he was concerned, but announced he was opposed to the kind of expense incurred in building a $1,000,000 arena.

Ald. Hunter said he stood on his 12-year record and referred to his experiences as chairman of the public works and public health committees and membership on the finance committee.

He pointed to his efforts in helping solve the garbage disposal problem. He called the arena "a good arena" but with faults like any other building.

During a question period, the suggestion of a reduced council was prominent. Ald. Hunter said he was not opposed to a reduced council. Ald. Kent said he favored an eight-man council, and Mr. Harrison said he could operate with a "cut" council and no city manager.

Questioned about fluorination of water, Mr. Harrison said the best water was "pure water."

"We don't need all this humbug," he declared.

Society to Hold Color Film Show

The St. Andrew's Welfare Association will sponsor a showing of color films at St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church on Wednesday evening, Nov. 21. Films on various points in England, Ireland and Scotland will be shown by Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Nimmo.

Island Rangers Will Attend Juniors' Dance

South Vancouver Island Rangers will put aside the serious business of tracking and trailing Nov. 23 to attend the first annual dance to be put on by their junior members.

The affair, to be held in the Club House, Luxton, will be a hard times dance with both modern and old-time music.

Sunday, Nov. 25, they will hold a full-scale emergency test and range shoot.

Symphony Set Monday

Next concert of the Victoria Symphony, under the baton of Hans Gruber, will be presented at 8.30 p.m. this Monday at the Royal Theatre.

Program will consist of Weber's Overture to "Der Freischuetz," and Wieniaski's Concerto No. 2 in D-minor for violin and orchestra; Hayden's "Military" Symphony and two Slavonic dances by Dvorak.

The same program will be presented tomorrow afternoon at the theatre for Greater Victoria schoolchildren. It will be the second of four concerts presented this season, under the sponsorship of the Greater Victoria School Board.

Victoria Athletics on Market, Franchise to Be Kept in City

By JIM TANG

Community-owned baseball in Victoria is no more. At least, this civic enterprise will end when, and if, the Victoria Baseball and Athletic Co., Ltd., finds a buyer for its Western International League franchise.

Shareholders met at the Y.M.C.A. yesterday to discuss what to do about the Athletics, burdened with debt after three consecutive seasons of red ink. At the end of the meeting, officials made the following short statement and declined to elaborate:

"The directors have been authorized to negotiate for the sale of the Victoria W.I.L. franchise so that it will be kept in Victoria."

The only explanatory word was the announcement that directors do not have the authority to sell the franchise. They will try and find some prospective buyers and call a meeting of shareholders when a concrete offer has been made. Shareholders will make the decision on any sale.

The only chance — and it is probably a slim one — that the club will remain at least a partial community effort is if someone should buy up enough outstanding stock ot get majority control.

While it is unlikely that the Victoria Baseball and Athletic Company Limited will continue to exist, it is the concensus that Victoria will be in the W.I.L. next season. Victoria is rated a good baseball town and would make an ideal farm club for a Pacific Coast League team.

Business manager Reg. Patterson had no comment when queried about reports that the Portland club which had a working agreement with the A's last season, has first chance of refusal. However, it is generally believed that Portland is the most likely purchaser although several people have shown interest in acquiring the franchise. Among them are Ted Norbert and Marty Krug, former club field managers.

Nor was there any report of the amount needed to take care of outstanding accounts. It is estimated that the club owes as much as $30,000 and there is approximately $40,000 in outstanding stock.

Assets Include 14 Players

Assets include the franchise, 14 players, the lights at Royal Athletic Park and playing and concession equipment.

The lights cost about $10,000 to install and would cost more today if they had to be re-installed. It would be difficult to assess their value at Athletic Park which is owned by the City of Victoria. The club has four years left on the 10-year lease it signed with the city when the club started play in 1946. Whether or not the lease will remain in effect if the club is sold is not definitely known and officials claimed they weren't certain.

Bob Sturgeon who was "signed" for a second term as manager if the present ownership continued to operate the club, is a free agent. He was given his release before the draft deadline.

Also undecided but not any problem for the new owner is the suit of ex-manager Dick Barrett for the balance of last season's salary, a sum in the neighborhood of $3,000.

Barrett was granted the money in a verdict by George Trautman, minor-league head, but the A's appealed to the executive council of the National Association of Professional Baseball Leagues. The council will make a decision at the annual meeting in Columbus early next month and whoever loses will doubtless appeal to baseball commissioner Ford Frick. If the A's lose, directors of the Victoria Baseball and Athletic Co. Ltd. will have to pay unless they try civil action. That is not likely.

So ends the six-year effort to make professional baseball pay its way in Victoria as a community enterprise.

The club was formed in 1945 with Laurel Harney doing the spadework. About $28,000 in stock was sold and the A's played their first W.I.L. game in April, 1946, with Harney as manager and Patterson as business manager and without a working agreement.

Successful Under Yanks

Harney was replaced early in 1946 by Norbert who remained at the helm until mid-season in 1949 when he was replaced by Earl Bolyard on orders from officials of the New York Yankees. The A's and Yanks entered into a working agreement before the start of the 1947 season and continued to work together until the end of the 1949 season.

The A's operated independently again in 1950, worked with Portland last season. Krug was the 1950 manager, Barrett and Sturgeon in that order piloted the club last season.

Patterson has remained as business manager and Johnny Johnson as president through the six years. George Straith, Francis Norton, Vic Clarke and Ray Parfitt have been directors from the start.

The A's made money in 1946, 1947 and 1948 but rising costs saw them lose $9,000 in 1949, $22,000 in 1950 and as much again last season. The figures are approximate. More stock was sold to keep the club in operation.

Artistically the A's were never too much of a success. They had only two seasons, 1947 and 1948, when they managed to finish above .500. They finished fifth and third, respectively, for those seasons. It was last in 1946, fifth again in 1949 and 1950 and seventh last year.

The club had its best success as a Yankee farm club and the 1947 team should have won the pennant. It was in a five-team battle right up to the wire and fell back after losing a double-header, 5-4 and 1-0, to Vancouver Capilanos, near the end of the season. Its final standing of 80-72 left it six games from the top.

In 1948, the A's wound up with a 90-68 record, yet were six and a half games behind Spokane and two and a half games behind Bremerton.

Interesting Aggregation

Fans will long remember the interesting 1947 aggregation which had Jack Harshman, Leo Righetti, John Cavalli and Babe Jensen in the infield, Bill White, Olney Patterson and Johnny Hooper in the outfield, and Vic Mastro and Bill Anske behind the plate. Bill Woop, Len Kasparovitch, Dick Mitchell and Joe Blankenship were the mound stalwarts.

The 1948 club had Vic Buccola, Jack Palmer, Russ Walseth and Jensen in the infield, Archie Wilson, Charlie Balassi and Lou Kubiak in the outfield, and Sol Recca and Dick Morgan as catchers. That was the year five pitchers, Blankenship (25-16), Propst (12-6), Del Owens (16-2), Kasparovitch (18-14) and Frank Logue (14-7) compiled an aggregate record of 85 wins and 49 defeats only to find it wasn't enough.

Top graduate is Gil McDougald, second baseman of the 1949 club and this year the star of the Yankees and the American League rookie award winner. Wilson, who won almost every individual batting title in 1948, will get a chance with the Yanks next season, as will Rex Jones, right-hander class of '49. Harshman had parts of two years with the New York Giants.

By JIM TANG

Tacoma Rockets handed Victoria Cougars their third straight defeat before close to 4,500 fans at Memorial Arena last night, but the 6-1 trouncing was only incidental. From a spectator viewpoint, the game was the worst in three P.C.H.L. seasons here, after linesman Les Robertson missed what must have been the obvious offside in hockey history, to give the Rockets their third goal and referee Bill Knott suddenly decided to clamp down.

FIGURE DECEIVING

When it was all over, Knott had issued a total of 65 minutes in penalties in a game that was not unusually rugged and the last 35 minutes were a complete farce which may well be reflected in attendance figures if the pattern should continue.

It all started at 5.14 of the second period with the travel-weary and shorthanded Cougars trailing 2-1 but still very much in contention. And from that moment it was impossible for either club to play hockey.

IT SEEMED IMPOSSIBLE

Rockets cleared the puck from behind their own blue line and it crossed the red line and the Cougar blue line. Tacomans Mark Marquess and Len Haldorsen, who had been near the red line, reached the puck first and obviously hesitated, believing to touch it would put them offside.

They were absolutely correct but at the last minute Marquess passed to Haldorsen who scored. To the amazement of everyone, including the Rockets, the goal was allowed as Knott paid no heed to frenzied protests from the indignant Cougars.

TAKES NO CHANCES

Mad, the Cougars steamed to the attack and Andy Hebenton and Tacoma defenseman Warren Godfrey had a considerable difference of opinion behind the Tacoma nets. Both deservedly got major penalties but the incident apparently made Knott decide to get the game under complete control.

He called six penalties in two minutes and three seconds and wound up with 14, totalling 45 minutes, for the second period alone. At one time, each club had four men in the penalty box and for 22 consecutive minutes, one club or the other — or both — played shorthanded.

NO LEAGUE RECORD

Knott called nine more penalties in the third period for a game total of 24. The league records are 27 for a game and 84 minutes but 24 and 65 was more than enough. The wonder of it all was that open warfare didn't break out with players on both clubs more than a bit disgruntled.

That also applied to the fans, many of whom left early muttering to themselves and each other.

A BIT TOO MUCH

The Cougars gave it a fight but 13 players who were finishing their sixth game in eight days after about 3,000 miles of traveling couldn't be expected to do better.

With defenseman Flori Goegan out indefinitely with water on the knee and Reg Abbott needing a week or 10 days more before his shoulder is ready for active play, the Cougars had only three defensemen. And coach Roger Leger, who needs specially-constructed skates, was struggling with a pair of Ernie Roche's. Leger broke his own on the prairie trip.

First period—1, Tacoma, Brown (Godfrey, MacDonald) 12.20; 2, Victoria, McIntyre (Bowness, Bouchard) 15.15; 3, Tacoma, Halderson (Young) 18.24. Penalty—Godfrey, 13.19.

Second period—4, Tacoma, Haldorsen (Marquess) 5.14; 5, Tacoma, Marquess (Godfrey) 14.18; 6, Tacoma, Brown (Pratt) 19.28. Penalties—Bowness 1.55; Godfrey (major) 5.37; Hebenton (major) 5.37; Young 6.18; Frampton 6.31; Davidson 7.15; Leger 7.15; Adam 7.16; Roche 8.31; O'Connor (major) 12.00; Jones 15.15; Roche (misconduct) 17.37; Godfrey 18.55.

Third period—7, Tacoma, Johnston (Bradley) 17.15. Penalties—Stevenson (served by Kerr) .18; Leger 3.33; McIntyre 10.43; Kerr 14.25; Leger 14.25; Frampton 15.33; Evans 18.00; Medynski 18.30; Davidson 18.30.

Totems Avenge Beating With Win Over Kitsilano

By IAN GLENDAY

Victoria High Totems gained revenge for their four-point loss to Kitsilano High School at Vancouver last week end when they whipped the Mainlanders 46-36 in an exhibition basketball game at Victoria High last night.

After suffering four straight exhibition losses, the Totems finally came into their own and showed they will be tough to beat after a few more games.

Kits opened strongly, building up a 12-8 lead by the end of the first quarter. Totems showed some of the power expected of them in the second canto, outscoring the visitors 16-5 for a seven-point lead at the half. Click Clark led Victoria High in the third quarter, netting seven of his eight points. The Mainlanders outscored the winners in the last stanza, but could not close the gap.

Line-ups:

Victoria High Totems—Jahraus 8, Anderson 7, Shields 8, Oakley 6, Kirchner, Woollett, Clark 8, Pederson 1, Dennison, Boylands, Hodges 4, Zarry 4. Total 46.

Kitsilano High — Golf, E. Keeley 5, G. Keeley 5, Smith 5, Tait 4, Mahon 8, Pulos 9. Total 36.

Mrs. C. S. Humber won silver division honors in the par competition at the Uplands Golf Club yesterday. Her score was three down. Mrs. J. W. Kempston won the bronze division, three down.

Rugby XV Perfect Hosts, Drop Tilt to Mainlanders

By IAN GLANDAY

Victoria High's rugby XV played the perfect host to Kitsilano High of Vancouver yesterday when it dropped a close 8-5 decision to the Mainlanders. The Fernwood Road boys turned in their poorest performance to date, but the Mainlanders played heads-up ball and fully deserved their win.

The victory gave the Kits an even break in the home-and-home series; Victoria took a 5-3 decision at Vancouver last week.

Victoria High opened strongly and appeared on its way to an easy victory with several scoring chances going awry. Then the bottom fell out for the losers as Dick Young bulldozed his way across the line to give Kits a 3-0 lead. Just before the break, Dick Wittey fell on a loose ball in Victoria High's end zone and converted his own try to leave the half-time score 8-0 in favor of the visitors.

After the breather Victoria High continued its lackadaisical play, but Kits could not break through for any further score. Don Donahue's try, converted by Lynn Thow, seemed to perk up the losers, but they could not push over the equalizer.

Vic High received a tough break midway through the first half when Don Burgess, team captain, suffered an ankle injury. It is not known whether his injury will keep him from participating in the coming Howard Russell Cup series.

Thow, scrum captain of Victoria High, played a brilliant game, as did Jim Kennett and Donahue. Nagle was the pick of the winners as his broken field running kept the losers in constant hot water.

Canucks Hammer Royals To Creep From Basement

Vancouver Canucks escaped from the Pacific Coast Hockey League cellar last night.

The Canucks hammered the league-standing New Westminster Royals, 6-3, at Vancouver to move one point ahead of the idle Calgary Stampeders but the Cowboys have five games in hand. It was only Canucks' third victory of the season but their second over Royals.

Saskatoon Quakers bolstered their grip on the third rung by battling to a 1-1 stalemate with Edmonton Flyers at the Alberta city.

Canucks grabbed the initiative in the first minute and jumped into the lead when Larry Popein batted home a double relay from Hugh Currie and Garry Gordon after only 42 seconds. They upped the margin to 5-0 on goals by Lorne Davis, Bob Ballance, newcomer Ron Plumb and Bill Hartsburgh within a space of three minutes late in the period.

A goal by Harry Groves early in the third period offset one for Royals by Ollie Dorohoy in the second period but Canucks got a bit careless at the finish and Royals scored twice in the final two minutes.

TIED WITH BROTHER

The game was scoreless until Frank Kubasek tallied for Edmonton early in the third period. Then Quakers poured on rentless pressure and goalie Bill Brennan of Flyers rose to miraculous heights in making 15 stops in the final period. He was off balance after saving from George Senick when Fowler finally beat him.

Quakers lost Ab MacDougall for an indefinite period when the veteran right winger suffered two cracked ribs after being heavily body-checked by Doug McCaig in the first period.

Kiser, Cretoria Main Grunters

Complete wrestling program for tonight's card at the Bay Street Armory has been announced by promoter Nick Harris.

The main event will feature Jack Kiser and John Cretoria while Lou Britton and Con Bruno will match holds in the semi-wind-up.

As a special attraction Harris has arranged for the "Mighty Midgets," Prince Halasie and Vitoria Gonzales, to make an appearance.

The local opener will be between Dick Watson and Tyke Myren. The program will start at 8.30 p.m.

Crusaders Risk Unbeaten Skein Against Vikings

Crusaders will risk their undefeated record when they meet Victoria College in the feature game of the two-game Victoria Rugby Union card at Upper Macdonald Park this afternoon.

J.B.A.A. and Oak Bay Wanderers will tangle on the lower field. Both games will start at 2.30 p.m.

Crusaders, at present boasting a five-game winning skein, could increase their first-place margin to six clear points if they whip the Vikings for the second time this year.

The already powerful Crusaders will be further strengthened by the appearance of Neil Williams, former Welsh schoolboy international, at the fullback slot. Williams is stationed in Victoria with the R.C.N. and has received permission to turn out with Crusaders.

U.S. Net Stars Down Aussies

SYDNEY, Australia, Nov. 16 (AP) — Vic Seixas and Tony Trabert, members of the U.S. Davis Cup squad, today scored easy victories in the second round of the New South Wales tennis championships.

Seixas defeated Rex Hartwig of Australia 6-2, 6-2, 6-3. Trabert eliminated Geoff Pryor of Sydney, 6-2, 6-2, 6-1.

Lennart Bergelin, No. 1 Swedish player, was bothered by a sore shoulder and was forced to go four sets to beat Neville Snellgrove of Sydney 6-1, 6-4, 4-6, 9-7.

Victoria City Meets Alcos In Cup Match

Victoria City will meet Alcos in the previously postponed first-round McGavin Cup soccer series match at Lower Beacon Hill at 2.30 p.m. today.

It will be City's first game since being reinstated by the Victoria and District Football Association after a suspension that lasted more than six weeks. The youthful players—all of whom are under 20—remained together despite the long layoff.

Legion, which received a first-round bye, will meet Esquimalt in one semi-final bracket tomorrow. The winner of today's game will oppose Duncan Native Sons in the other bracket next week end.

Line-ups:

Victoria City—Archie McMillan, Don Ingram, Bill Ramford, Bob Allen, Don Dendra, Hal Haywood, Ken Beaddon, Gerry Parker, Jack McIntyre, Click Clarke, Alan Blair. Spare—Wilson.

Greasy Field Boosts Hopes Of Tiger-Cats

OTTAWA, Nov. 16 (CP). — A slushy snow that melted as it fell on the Landsdowne Park gridiron raised Hamilton hopes on the eve of Tiger-Cats' final chance in the Big Four football play-off with Ottawa Rough Riders.

But despite the snow, which gave promise of a greasy playing field, and although Ti-Cats are rated the best mudders in the Canadian game, there was little local money riding on the Cats tonight.

The park is sold out, and barring continued bad weather, Lansdowne may exceed its previous record of more than 16,000.

Speculation was growing as to what would happen if Ti-Cats closed the 10-point gap of the home-and-home, total-point series with Ottawa and tomorrow's game finished in a tie. Wes Brown supplied the official answer.

In the event of play-off tie, the teams play two 10-minute overtime periods, changing ends for each and kicking off to start each session.

Or there could be a third "playoff." A rider to the regulations says that if overtime is "not practicable" as it would not be if darkness fell, for example, the executive has to decide about a play-off.

Colwood Winners

Miss Margaret Mahoney and Mrs. W. H. Yardley headed the silver and bronze divisions, respectively, in a women's hidden hole competition at the Royal Colwood Golf and Country Club Thursday. Each carded a net 26.

In the putting competition, Miss Margaret Mahoney and Mrs. W. H. Lawson tied for silver division honors, and Miss Mildred Mahoney and Mrs. W. Cotton finished even in the bronze division.

Breadmen Tough Test Of Individuals' Strength

Buchan's Bakery, rated one of the top quintets in the Northwest Basketball League, will provide Victoria Individuals with a stern test at Victoria High School gymnasium tonight.

The Breadmen are bringing a line-up considerably stronger than the one which toppled both Individuals and Alberni Athletics in exhibition games last year. It includes three holdovers, three [illegible] players and two stars of last season's College of Puget Sound squad.

The ex-C.P.S. stars are Don Gilchrist and Rod Gibbs, six-foot six-inch centre who set several scoring marks in the Evergreen Conference. The former Huskies are Jack Ward, Tom Ward and John Rognan. Holdovers are Don Mullen, Kermit Scott and Tom Leonard.

Individuals received a blow yesterday when it was learned that Elmer Curtis, speedy forward, would be unable to play tonight. He received a knee injury last week and will be replaced on the starting line-up by rugged Vince Clarkson tonight.

The other starters will be Johnny Clark at the pivot post with playing coach Norm Baker on the other wing. Guards will be Vic Dale and veteran Porky Andrews, whose addition will bolster both the attack and defense. The bench will include Bob Boyes, Rookie Wright, Wes [illegible]

The game will be preceded by an intermediate "A" men's game between Chinese Students and Dickinson & Dunn at 7.30. The inter-city game is slated to start one hour later.

Basketball Loop To Hold Meeting

The Saanich and Suburban Basketball League will hold a board meeting at the Saanichton Agricultural Hall at 8 p.m. tonight.

A four-game card will also be staged at the hall this evening. Games scheduled, in order: midget girls, Saanichton vs. Sooke; midget boys, Saanichton vs. Brentwood; intermediate "B" boys, Saanichton vs. Brentwood; senior men, Saanichton vs. Orphans.

Wrong Alley Costs Bowler Perfect Game

MILWAUKEE, Nov. 16 (AP).—Howie Kissnes rolled 12 strikes in a row starting in the first frame Thursday night but still failed to bowl a perfect game.

Impossible, you say?

Well, they're calling him wrong alley Kissner today.

After rolling a 242 opening game, Kissner—leadoff man for the Magaw team in the Greater All Star League—stepped to the alleys and sent a sizzler down the polished lane for a perfect strike. Then they told him it didn't count. Wrong alley.

He opened again with another strike and followed with 10 more. On the 12th ball, with a chance remaining for a perfect game, the No. 10 pin remained standing for a 299 count. He finished the series with a mediocre 167 but had a creditable 708 aggregate.

This is what that wrong alley shot cost Kissner:

A diamond medal from the American Bowling Congress for a 300 game; $300 in cash from a bowling shirt manufacturer whose shirt he was wearing; a $100 watch from a Milwaukee jeweler, and $50 from a Milwaukee haberdasher.

Shill, Reardon Cut Adrift By Vancouver

Bill Shill and Larry Reardon, two veteran members of Vancouver Canucks, were cut from the roster yesterday to make room for two new players and keep the club within the player limit of 15. Their departure leaves Vic Lofvendahl, Bob Ballance and Eric Unger as the only holdovers from last season's team.

One Vancouver paper reports Shill and Reardon both going to Syracuse. Another lists Shill as Ottawa-bound but that Reardon will be kept around as "equipment man" in case coach Murph Chamberlain is in need of him.

Reardon turned pro with Canucks in the 1949-50 season, picking up 34 points in 49 games at his defense position to win the league's rookie award. He was used as utility last year and accumulated 50 points in 64 games.

Shill turned pro with Boston Bruins in 1942 and has seen services in the National, American and United States Hockey League. In three seasons with the Canucks he has amassed 202 points, including 113 goals.

Replacing the veterans are 21-year-old Ron Plumb and 22-year-old Don Smith, both forwards, who were assigned to the Canucks by Cincinnati Mohawks.

Western Window Tops Call-Over

LONDON, Nov. 16 (Reuters)—Western Window tonight was backed down to 19 to 2 as the favorite for the Manchester November Handicap, to be run tomorrow.

J. Mercer's mount heads a probable field of 32, all but two of which were given support at the final call-over here tonight. The pair ignored were High Rest and Montfleur.

The final call-over:

19-2, Western Window; 10-1, French Design; 100-7, Belsay Castle, Royal Morocain, Sports Master and Solar; 100-6, Clare Hill; 20-1, Bel-Aire Andashtan; 22-1, Topsall; 25-1, Gold Fever, Bay Westwood and Sahara; 28-1, Good Taste; 33-1, Bonaparte and Roi Chevade; 40-1, Caledon, Bright Faith, Thirlstown, Temple Tree Top and Lady Pappageno; 50-1, Melan, Telephone Boy, Montezol, Sweet Charmer and Charmer Anduyal; 66-1, Dessin, Fellscope, Siren Light and The Nore.

Carpet Bowling

Games scheduled in the Capital City and District Carpet Bowling League next week follow:

Monday—Sherwood vs. Beadies; Willows Park vs. St. Lukes.
Tuesday—T. Bridges and Pannell vs. Cull and Greendale.
Wednesday—Friars vs. C.C.F.; Drummond and Bolton vs. F. Bridge and Jenkins.
Thursday—Beadies vs. Robin Hood; B. Thomas and Dorey vs. Whittle and Stanley.
Friday—Calvin and Harrison vs. D. Thomas and Gibbs; Bates and Bridges vs. McKenzie and Thackray.

Playoff for Grey Cup Still November 24 Despite Threat of Sarnia Injunction

MONTREAL, Nov. 16 (CP).—Myer Insky, Canadian Rugby Union president, said tonight the east-west football playoff for the Grey Cup will be played Nov. 24 as scheduled.

Commenting on a report from Sarnia, Ont., that a group of sportsmen were considering seeking an injunction to stop the game on grounds the teams competing are professional, Insky said the game was for the C.R.U. championship.

"The winning club will be awarded the trophy," Insky said, "notwithstanding any such protest."

ONLY AMATEUR CLUB

The Sarnia group claimed that the trophy is emblematic of the amateur football championship of Canada and should be awarded to Sarnia by default because Sarnia Imperials, Ontario football champions, are the only senior amateur club in Canada.

Insky declined comment on this claim.

The group, headed by Group Capt. Dave Harding and including Sarnia sportsmen Bill White and Mike Mercurio, will seek legal advice before proceeding with its application for an injunction.

It bases its claim on two sections of the Canadian Rugby Union's constitution.

One, "name and object," says: "The primary object shall be furtherance of amateur rugby football throughout the Dominion of Canada, including the making and enforcing of rules of the game. Its secondary object shall be the bringing together annually (if and when it is feasible to do so) representative teams from its affiliated union, in a series of contests for the amateur championship of Canada."

AMATEUR TROPHY

The other section, trophies," says: "The trophy to be competed for in the senior series shall be known as the Earl Grey Cup, presented by the late Earl Grey, formerly governor-general of Canada, as emblematic of the amateur rugby football championship of Canada."

Norm Perry, manager of Sarnia Imperials, declined comment on the situation until the Sarnia club is officially approached.

Sponsors of the move said they decided to take action because they thought it out of keeping with the objects and constitution of the C.R.U. that a senior amateur club should have to sit around and wait for a professional club to trounce it in a competition ostensibly held for amateur teams.

They also say that if their attempt to have the Grey Cup returned to amateur competition succeeds, it will bring about a tremendous revival in senior amateur football.

Women Golfers To Meet Men In Cup Match

The annual women vs. men team match for the Schwenger's Trophy will be played at the Royal Colwood Golf Club tomorrow.

The men will concede eight strokes plus full handicap difference in the singles matches and eight strokes plus half the difference of combined handicaps in the doubles matches.

Draw and starting times follow:

10.00—Miss F. E. Painter vs. W. P. McCull; Mrs. E. Masson vs. V. Painter.
10.07—Miss P. Bagley vs. Ted Colgate; Miss M. M. Mahoney vs. B. Bunnings.

Remember When . .

The Toronto R.C.A.F. Hurricanes placed four men on the Canadian Press All-Star Ontario Senior Football Union team announced eight years ago today. The champion Hamilton Wild-Cats and runner-up Toronto Balmy Beach each had three. All star quarterback was Annis Stukus of Balmy Beach, now coach of Edmonton Eskimos, who led the O.R.F.U. scoring in 1943 with 64 points.

Amateur Athletic Union Welcomes Newfoundland

VANCOUVER, Nov. 16 (CP).—The annual meeting of the Amateur Athletic Union of Canada today voted to accept a Newfoundland branch into the union.

Centres for three national amateur championships and Canadian Olympic trials were chosen by delegates.

Delegates accepted the recommendation of the credentials, affiliations and alliances committee that the request of interested parties in Newfoundland to form a provincial branch of the union be accepted.

They also backed the committee's recommendation that attempts be made to reorganize the defunct maritimes branch of the union.

Former members of the branch wrote the national organization asking that the maritimes' name be struck from the roster. They asked the union to retain affiliations with the track and field committee.

MUST BELONG

While accepting the request, the meeting mentioned that no maritime athlete could compete in the Olympic trials unless he was a member of the A.A.U.

Dominion championship sites were picked for:

Alberta was chosen for the western Canada boxing championships.

In committee meetings, delegates:

Decided not to include gymnastics on the British Empire Games program.

Recognized about 30 new Canadian track and field records.

Set some recommended standard times for the 1952 Olympic trials.

Considered an award which would be known as the Longboat Medal for the outstanding Indian athlete of the year. There were no nominations for the award.

Golf--- Here's How

By SAM SNEAD
Golf's Greatest Player-Teacher

As you start your backswing with that "all-together" movement the left knee bends inward and the left heel rises so that both knees are kept in the same horizontal plane. There must be no dipping of the left knee for that will cause a left side sag and your rhythm and co-ordination will be gone. At the point pictured the player is now ready to start his downswing. His hands are fully cocked and he won't uncock them and pour them into the swing until they are hip high. Note his knees are horizontal. Your hands should not reach a fully cocked position until you are at the top of your backswing. If you cock them fully before that point it is almost impossible to resist the temptation to uncock them as you start down. If you do that you are spending the power they add in the air and not on the ball where it contributes so much to distance, timing and accuracy.

Canadian Stocks Lower, But Grain Prices Rise

By AP and CP

Rails came through with a last-minute rally in the New York stock market Friday.

That action kept the market from bending over completely to the losing side. The result was a mixed close over a range of two points higher to a point or more lower.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks advanced 20 cents with the industrials down 30 cents, rails up 70 cents and utilities up 10 cents.

Volume was 1,900,000 shares.

In western oils, Del Rio and Mid-Continent edged higher in active trading but Canadian Atlantic, Canadian Collieries, Federated Petroleum, National Petroleum, Vulcan and Sapphire dipped slightly.

Irregular opening support faded at Montreal and prices closed moderately lower on the stock exchange and curb market. Trading was light. Changes ranged to about two points.

Steels dipped sharply. Papers and senior metals were considerably lower. Other industrial sections were lower except carriers, which held steady.

Mines were weak from the opening and western oils slipped.

Vancouver stock prices were fairly steady during the afternoon but no attempt was made to recover from moderate losses in the morning session.

Winnipeg grain prices reached new seasonal highs, with flax scoring maximum 15-cent gains in all positions.

Export loadings of Canadian wheat included 1,200,000 bushels for the United Kingdom, 700,000 for Belgium, 250,000 for Germany, 240,000 for Switzerland and 125,000 for Japan.

Class two wheat and I.W.A. prices advanced one-quarter cent from Thursday.

London Market At Lower Ebb

LONDON, Nov. 16 (Reuters).—There was a slow deterioration in prices in practically all sections of the stock exchange today. Business was at a low ebb.

Declines in British government funds were up to ⅜ and there were falls of several pence in the majority of industrials.

In the foreign section German loans hardened but Japanese eased. Elsewhere oils failed to hold an initial firmer trend.

In an idle mining sections coppers showed irregularity. Gold mining were slightly lower.

Stock closings: Babcock & Wilcox 77s 6d; Boots Pure Drug 24s 9d; Canadian Pacific $68⅛; Central Mining £2 5-32; Consolidated Gold Fields 51s 3d; Courtaulds 47s 4½d; Hudson's Bay Co. 163s 9d; Imperial Chemical 49s; Imperial Tobacco 96s 3d; Metal Box 50s 3d; Mexican Eagle 26s 10½d; Rand Mines 138s 9d.

Bonds: British 2½ per cent consols £63⅝; British 3½ per cent war loans £83 13-16; British fundings 4s 1960-1990 £102⅞.

U.S. EXCHANGES CLOSE

NEW YORK, Nov. 16 (AP).—All financial and commodity exchanges throughout the United States will be closed Thanksgiving Day, Thursday, Nov. 22.

Canadian and European markets will be open as usual.

Foreign Exchange

MONTREAL, Nov. 16 (CP).—The American dollar today closed at 4 11/16 per cent premium to the Canadian dollar, up 7/32 from Thursday's close. That is, it took $1.04 11/16 Canadian to buy $1 American.

The pound sterling was $2.93⅛, up ⅜ from Thursday.

Business Notes

WINNIPEG, Nov. 16 (CP).—L. E. Ostrander, commissioner for the Canadian National Railways here, has estimated the gross value of goods produced in Greater Winnipeg this year at $420,000,000, an increase of $50,000,000 over 1950.

NEW YORK, Nov. 16 (CP).—A contract for the installation of new equipment and machinery at the Columbia Cellulose Company, Ltd., plant near Prince Rupert, B.C., has been let to the Dominion Construction Co., Ltd., it was announced yesterday.

LONDON, Nov. 16 (CP).—Sir William Rootes, chairman of one of Britain's biggest automobile-exporting groups, today said manufacturers here are confident of recovering the Canadian market for cars despite credit restrictions imposed in Canada.

Sir William, in a letter to the Financial Times, said the industry is backing this belief by organizing a special motor display at the 1952 Canadian National Exhibition in Toronto.

TORONTO, Nov. 16 (CP).—Imperial Oil, Ltd., has set a price of $29.50 a share for the 2,713,384 shares of non-par value common stock which are being offered to shareholders.

The offer is on a pro-rata basis of one new share for each 10 shares held. Date of record is Nov. 20. Rights will expire Dec. 19.

KELOWNA, B.C., Nov. 16 (CP).—Some 500,000 boxes of Okanagan apples are ready for shipment to the United Kingdom, A. K. Loyd, president of B.C. Tree Fruits Ltd., said today. Another 170,000 boxes now are en route to the United Kingdom.

Mr. Loyd said he had no reason to think that any of the commitments made for Canadian apples this season would be cancelled because of the British drive to cut dollar expenditures.

New Policy Covers Almost Everything

MEDICAL and hospital expenses are covered by a new automobile insurance policy which will become the standard for B.C. motorists Jan. 1.

The new policy allows for blanket coverage against theft, fire, collision or upset, loss caused by missiles, falling objects, earthquakes, explosion, wind, hail, water, flood, vandalism and riot.

The medical payments clause covers "necessary medical, surgical, dental, ambulance, hospital, professional nursing and funeral services" for all occupants of a car involved in an accident.

Argument on Gas Set December 7

WASHINGTON, Nov. 16 (AP).—The Power Commission said today that oral arguments on the proposal of Montana Power Company, Butte, to import natural gas from Canada will start here Dec. 7.

The arguments were requested by the National Coal Association, the United Mine Owners of America and the Railway Labor Executives Association.

They said commission action on the proposal would establish precedents that might be reflected in later proposals to import natural gas.

The company wants to import up to 10,000,000,000 cubic feet of natural gas a year for five years for the exclusive use of the Anaconda Copper Mining Company.

New Wheat Crop Estimate Reduced But Still Second Highest on Record

OTTAWA, Nov. 16 (CP).—Not the biggest but next to it. That is the latest prediction from the Bureau of Statistics on the size of this year's wheat crop.

The bureau announced Thursday that it has knocked 17,000,000 bushels from its previous estimate of a record crop, and said its present expectation of a 562,398,000-bushel harvest depends on the weather.

The bureau anticipated the proportion of good milling grades will be "considerably higher" than in 1950 when frost turned half the crop into unmillable stocks.

The 1951 crop—if the situation doesn't deteriorate—will be more than 100,000,000 bushels higher than the 1950 harvest of 461,664,000 although about 5,000,000 bushels below the record harvest of 567,000,000 bushels in 1928. It is valued at $1,000,000,000.

The bureau placed the 1951 oats crop at 493,292,000 bushels down from its September estimate of 502,114,000. Barley was placed at 252,930,000, dropping from 257,051,000 and rye at 18,014,000, down from 18,841,000. The potato crop was forecast at 67,195,000 bushels, down from the previous estimate of 70,900,000. Last year when all provinces had greater acreage, a 97,000,000-bushel potato crop was harvested.

Newfoundland Reports Aluminum Plant Deal

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld., Nov. 16 (CP).—A spokesman for the Newfoundland department of Economic development said his department had reached an agreement in principle with "the greatest aluminum works of England" to establish a similar plant in this province. Further details were not given.

BOND TRADE QUIET

MONTREAL, Nov. 16 (CP).—Trading continued quiet with prices relatively unchanged today on the Montreal bond market. The corporate market was again featured by activity in C.P.R. convertibles which were fractionally higher.

Some men when they buy a suit think mostly of the cut of the coat — they take the trousers for granted. But when a man buys a Daks suit, he is very conscious of the comfort and superb hang of his Daks self-supporting trousers, and when he slips on his easy, perfectly tailored Daks jacket to match, he has become a permanent convert to Daks suits, whether for business or leisure.

Foreign Trade Totals Already Near Record

OTTAWA, Nov. 16 (CP).—Canada's total foreign trade in the first nine months of this year edged the $6,000,000,000 mark, coming within $400,000,000 of shattering the 12-month record established in 1950.

Imports and exports both were at their peaks.

The only blur on the horizon was a $323,800,000 deficit in the foreign commodity account, reflecting mainly Canada's heavier buying in the United States.

Total trade, as estimated by the Bureau of Statistics today, came to $5,960,200,000 for the nine months, against $4,507,700,000 in the corresponding period last year.

Trade with Britain — reaching $783,200,000 — was higher than in any similar period since the Second World War. Deficit in trade with the United States totaled $429,800,000, about six times higher than last year's $71,400,000, but only a little more than half the record deficit of $718,500,000 in 1947.

Three Apply For Oil Rights

Only three oil exploration permits were applied for Thursday, according to the provincial lands department.

Del Rio Producers and D. C. MacDonald each applied for permission to explore 250,000 acres at Nelson Forks. H. N. Frith applied for 3,900 acres at Kyuquot Channel.

Yesterday's figures were not available.

57 HOUSES FOR SALE

MODERN FIVE ROOMS and ONE ACRE PLUS SUITE IN BASEMENT
$2,500 down. Full price just $7,950. Two-mile circle. HERE IS TERRIFIC VALUE THE LIKE OF WHICH YOU MAY NEVER SEE AGAIN! The floor plan is large. Example Living room 20x14. Dining room is large enough for third bedroom holding complete modern bedroom suite. Wired for range and electric hot water. Drive-in garage. Unusually high basement with very good three-room suite (one room of which is nicely finished in knotty pine and contains an open fireplace). Block and a half from bus. Close to school. Yes, the acre is cleared, comprises excellent soil, and you can use every bit of it. You are bound to ask me "What's the catch?" Well, you'll have to do a few small jobs around the house to bring it up to first class condition ... but you'll be surprised how little it will take. Incidentally, we will consider a trade for a large family home with two lots, not too far from town. THIS IS A HAWKES FOSTER EXCLUSIVE.

PUBLIC NOTICE
RE PROPOSED REVISION OF CHARTER AND SIGHTSEEING PASSENGER TARIFF NO. 3
(Victoria and Vicinity)
TAKE NOTICE THAT the Public Utilities Commission has under consideration a revision of the rates prescribed (pursuant to the "Motor Carrier Act") in the above-mentioned Tariff respecting:
(a) Sightseeing Tours for Victoria and vicinity;
(b) Rates for Charter Trips for Vehicles having a Carrying Capacity of seven (7) passengers or less,
originating within a radius of 20 miles from the City Hall in the City of Victoria (except trips which are made in vehicles having a seating capacity of not more than seven passengers, excluding the driver, and are charter trips made entirely within the area comprising the municipalities of the City of Victoria, the District of Oak Bay and the Township of Esquimalt, and that portion of the Municipality of the District of Saanich which lies within a radius of 5 miles from the City Hall in the City of Victoria.)
The proposed revised rates are as set out in proposed "Supplement No. 6 canceling original Pages Nos. 9 and 10," and proposed "Supplement No. 7 canceling Item No. 1, Page 4 of Supplement No. 3," copies of which are open to inspection during normal office hours in the office of the Inspector of Motor Carriers, Public Utilities Commission, Room 513, Central Building, Victoria, B.C., during the week commencing Monday, November 19, 1951.
Any representations respecting the above proposals may be filed with the Inspector of Motor Carriers at the above-mentioned office on or before Saturday, November 24, 1951.

One-Act Plays Well Executed At Mount View

Three well executed one-act plays were presented before an audience of about 150 persons at Mount View High School last night by the Wilkinson Road Players.

The plays were under auspices of the Dorcas Auxiliary of Wilkinson Road and Garden City United Churches. They were: "Mrs. O'Leary's Cow"; a skit "99 44-100 Per Cent Pure"; and a drama in modern dress, "Curse You, Jack Dalton."

Those taking parts were Isobel Boon, Doreen Cummins, Marion Boon, Flora Beers, David Phillips, Frances and David Boon, Richard and Paul Phillips, Ernest Lindner, Kathleen Agnew, Jessie Swales, H. J. McKay, Connie Reynolds, Robert Livesey and Margaret Grieve.

Butter Rules Bring Protest

Butter is the only food commodity in Canada that can be artificially colored and there is no law saying such a fact must be mentioned on its label.

George Gregory, Victoria lawyer, offered this statement at a Chamber of Commerce directors' meeting yesterday, during a discussion on the coloring of margarine.

He intimated that butter manufacturers should not be allowed to artificially color their product unless similar permission was granted those producing margarine.

Earliest surviving French music is that of the troubadors of the 11th century, rhapsodic in style.

Culbertson on Bridge - - - -

(Copyright 1951, by Ely Culbertson)

A team-of-four contest was recently held in New York for the purpose of selecting a team to represent the United States in a match against an Italian team which won the 1951 European championship. The winners in the New York match were Howard Schenken, George Rapee, Samuel Stayman, John Crawford and B. Jay Becker.

Going into the last quarter, this team trailed their adversaries by a substantial number of points, and so it was not surprising that Crawford and Becker, sitting South and North in the following deal, should have tried to steal a slam which was decidedly not in the cards.

North dealer. Neither side vulnerable.

NORTH
♠ 1 10 8 5
♥ K 7
♦ 9 3
♣ K Q J 8 6

WEST
♠ 7 2
♥ Q 9 6 5
♦ Q 8 7 4
♣ A 7 2

EAST
♠ 3
♥ A J 8 4 3 2
♦ 10 6 5 2
♣ 4 3

SOUTH
♠ A K Q 9 6 4
♥ 10
♦ A K J
♣ 10 9 5

The bidding:

| North | East | South | West |
|---|---|---|---|
| Pass | Pass | 1 ♠ | Pass |
| 3 ♠ | Pass | 4 ♠ (1) | Pass |
| 4 ♠ | Pass | 5 ♠ | Pass |
| 6 ♠ | Pass | Pass | Pass |

North-South not only tried to steal something—they got away with it! West, disinclined to guess between his red suits and equally loath to lay down the club ace, opened a trump. Declarer put up dummy's jack, and he could not afford to draw the other outstanding trump because that would give a defender the chance to signal with a high heart. So South led dummy's club king. East should have played the club four, but didn't, and when he played the three, West unwisely took the trick with the ace and, after a fruitless huddle, shifted to diamonds. That, of course, was the end of the defense!

West could be absolutely sure, from declarer's leaving a trump at large, that the enemy lacked another ace besides the club ace. Also, it was inconceivable that South would have bothered to make a fancy bid on a singleton with that holding, he would not fear the suit. So, had East echoed in clubs, West could have safely held up the ace long enough to get a positive signal from East.

There were other reasons favoring a shift to hearts rather than diamonds, but space limitations forbid this discussion, and I am sure, anyway, that readers will see these reasons for themselves.

Uncle Wiggily Story - - -

By Howard Garis

NURSE JANE'S BROOM

Nurse Jane Fuzzy Wuzzy finished sweeping the kitchen in Uncle Wiggily's hollow stump bungalow. The muskrat lady had just locked someone in the jam closet in the cellar.

"I don't know who I locked in," said Nurse Jane as she used the dustpan and brush on the kitchen floor. "Whoever is down there made a lot of noise with the empty boxes in the jam closet. But when I shut and locked the door no one said a word. Maybe whoever was in the closet got out before I locked the door. I wonder?"

Nurse Jane didn't know just what to do. Uncle Wiggily had hopped away to look for an adventure. Buster and Bunty, as well as all the other rabbit children were reciting their lessons to the Lady Mouse Teacher in Hollow Tree School.

"I am here all alone in the bungalow," said Nurse Jane to herself as she hung up the broom on a nail at the head of the cellar stairs. "I am all alone and there is something mysterious in the jam closet. I wish Uncle Wiggily would come home! Perhaps I should telephone to Chief the police dog. Yes, that's what I'll do."

Nurse Jane went to the telephone. She called up Police Headquarters and asked for Chief, the big dog.

"Chief isn't here now," answered Sergeant Bill, who was also a police dog. "Is there anything I can do for you, Miss Fuzzy Wuzzy?"

"Well, Sergeant Bill," answered Nurse Jane, "there was a queer rattling, banging, empty box noise in the cellar jam closet a little while ago. But I have it locked in. Please ask Chief to come over here as soon as he gets back."

"I will do that," promised Sergeant Bill. "But did you say, Nurse Jane, that you had a NOISE locked in the cellar jam closet? I don't see how you could lock up a NOISE. Ha! Ha! Ha!"

"Ha! Ha! Ha!" also laughed Nurse Jane. "I didn't exactly mean that. I locked in the jam closet whoever was making the noise."

"Then I think everything will be all right until Chief gets back," said Sergeant Bill. "Is there a good lock on the closet door?"

"Oh, yes, a very strong lock," said Miss Fuzzy Wuzzy. "Whoever made that box noise cannot get out."

"Good!" barked Sergeant Bill.

Nurse Jane went on with her bungalow work. She made the beds, she dusted the rooms and then she looked out of a window to see if Uncle Wiggily might be hopping along. But the rabbit gentleman was not to be seen. Not even a twinkle from the end of his pink nose.

"I wish Uncle Wiggily would come home," said Nurse Jane to herself as she went to the kitchen to make a cabbage pudding for supper. "He ought to know about somebody mysterious that I have locked in the jam closet. But I suppose Mr. Longears is busy having an adventure. I must wait."

After she finished making the cabbage pudding, Nurse Jane made a chocolate pie. She baked it in the oven and it smelled so good that it awakened Clarence, the boy fox, who was locked in the cellar jam closet. He was hiding there. He was going to wait until after dark. Then he was going to open the back kitchen door and let in the bungalow his father and mother foxes. They expected to surprise Uncle Wiggily in bed.

"My goodness! Something smells very good," said Clarence as he awakened from where he had curled up in a box in the jam closet to take a nap. "I wonder what it is? I think I will just sneak out of this closet and go up to the kitchen now. That's where the good smell is coming from."

Clarence tried to open the closet door. But he couldn't. It was locked. This so surprised the boy fox that he jumped and knocked down a box which made a loud noise.

"Oh! Oh!" exclaimed Nurse Jane. "I must do something!" She grabbed her broom.

What is going to happed next? I will tell you tomorrow if the football doesn't try to use the tennis net to catch the goldfish when it is playing tag with the pussy cat.

Colwood Fire Chief Defends Record of Brigade

The Colwood Volunteer Fire Department has only lost one home since its inception six years ago, Fire Chief W. Gwyer said yesterday.

He answered claims made by Mrs. E. C. Parker, a resident in the district where fire destroyed the home of Richard Diment, Anchorage Street, last Wednesday.

The area where the fire occurred does not come under the Colwood fire protection area, but the volunteer organization responded to the call regardless.

Mrs. Parker stated yesterday that three homes have burned in Colwood and "the fire brigade hasn't been able to save one of them."

ONLY ONE HOME LOST

Fire chief Gwyer denied this statement and pointed out that only one home had burned since the department was organized.

He also denied another assertion made by residents in the non-protected area that the Colwood fire brigade was "of little use."

The charges arose when the firemen were forced to watch the [illegible] before their eyes when they ran out of water in the truck.

Nearby there was a 4,000-gallon cistern. It was claimed that there was no pump on the fire truck to fill the tank.

Fire chief Gwyer denied this and explained the reason the firemen didn't fill the tank again and continue fighting the fire was because "there wasn't a road to the cistern."

He said he was annoyed at the lack of appreciation shown firemen who didn't have to answer the call in the first place as it was out of their territory.

Inquiry on Cyr Believed Over But Navy Mum

The navy remains silent about its mystery doctor.

It is understood an inquiry dealing with the man who says he is Dr. Joseph Cyr has now been completed at H.M.C.S. Naden, and that findings have been forwarded to Ottawa.

If and when any official statement is offered by the R.C.N., it will come from Naval Headquarters in Ottawa.

Dr. Cyr was serving as a Surgeon Lieutenant aboard the destroyer Cayuga in the Korean war zone when an investigation was launched into his proper identity. This followed a report from a Dr. Joseph C. Cyr of Grand Falls, N.B., that a number of his medical papers had been missing since last winter.

The navy surgeon was flown under escort to the local naval base early this week.

Manitoba Political Figure Succumbs

WINNIPEG, Nov. 16 (CP)—Municipal Commissioner Sauveur Marcoux, 58, died in St. Boniface Hospital Thursday night.

Mr. Marcoux was first elected to the Manitoba legislature for La Verendrye constituency in the general election in 1936 and became minister without portfolio in the government of John Bracken. He was re-elected in 1941, 1945 and 1949.

He was a Liberal Progressive.

He was appointed municipal commissioner in 1948.

Born at Lorette, Man., Mr. Marcoux obtained his early schooling there and later attended St. Boniface College. He was a farmer at Lorette and at one time served as reeve of the municipality. He took an active part in the work of French-Canadian societies in Manitoba.

Trial Tuesday For Accused In Theft Case

Edward James Minnie, 816 Mason, arrested by city police and charged with breaking and entering and theft, pleaded not guilty in city police court yesterday.

According to police, accused broke into Jacks Auto Radio, 773 Pandora Avenue on Nov. 10. He was remanded by Magistrate H. C. Hall to Tuesday for trial.

John Adams, 877 Old Esquimalt Road, who pleaded guilty earlier to breaking into a store at 629 Pandora, was sentenced to two years less a day in prison.

Magistrate Hall also said he would recommend consideration be given that the accused be sent to the confined part of Borstal.

Ronald Finch-Field, H.M.C.S. Naden, charged with indecent assault, received a suspended sentence on the understanding that he not drink liquor for one year and that he enter into a $500 bond for the same period.

Alfred Dendoff, 1862 Chestnut, was fined $40 for failing to remain at the scene of an accident and Stephen S. White, 668 Transit, was fined $25 for driving without a current driver's license.

Kenneth M. Gill, 2826 Prior, was fined $35 for careless driving.

Quebec Police Nab 200 Barbotte Players

MONTREAL, Nov. 16 (CP)—Quebec Provincial Police swooped down during the night on a barbotte gambling establishment on the fringe of Montreal and arrested more than 200 players, many of them said to be prominent Montrealers. They were taken to jail in busloads and an unidentified man later posted $100 bail for each of them.

The Gorgeous Gardener
The G.F. came home the other day & brought me a coat of silvery grey. It sure is pretty, cute 'n slick, has a brass buckle, the belt elastic. It has slash pockets & it's quilted inside, a high pointed collar my neck to hide. It's a shortie coat, snug & warm, ideal I think, for a big snow-storm. "It's a honey," I enthused, to my little dame, "is it to wear at the hockey game???" "NO," she replied, "your legs would freeze, it's for when you garden, down on your knees." "Now . . . HOLD IT," I said, "is my hearing hard, you want I should wear it . . . OUT IN THE YARD????" "Why, of course," she nodded, "does it seem strange, that a respectable husband would be a nice change. ALL those sweaters that you wear, no WONDER people stop & stare?" "O.K.," I said, the talk to quit, "but just remember . . . YOU ASKED FOR IT. If I smear it with paint, it gets full of dirt, don't blame ME, if your feelings are hurt." I pulled it on, tightened the belt, went outside, all toasty I felt. Into the pockets I stuffed my fists, they went in deep, way past my wrists. No need for YOU to go in deep, if you want to keep warm, & toast YOUR feet. We've Quaker heaters, that run on oil, no wood or coal or messy toil. Passing just then, was a neighbor named Andy. "My . . ," he whistled, "but aren't you the dandy???" "You like it, eh?" I looked at my feet & don't you think the gravy is sweet??" "It's just YOUR color. I wish it was mine, & I love at the neck, that lovely line." "I'll model it . . . shall I, just for you?" "Oh yes," he said, "I'd love you to." With studied pace, I strolled about, "ummm," he mumbled . . . "it's sure a knock-out." I pulled down the zipper, it worked like a charm, I took it off to drape on my arm. He eased at the quilting, I'd turned it out, one hand on my hip as I languid about. "I'll take it," he said, a sort of wheeze, "wrap it up, and charge it, please." I put it back on—I was getting cold, and he wandered off, he that was sold. I went to the shed, to myself I did talk. I threw down my shovel . . . and went for a walk. I felt awfully nice, set rather a jerk, 'cause a gardener I was . . . TOO BEAUTIFUL TO WORK.
